

Soviets Blast At U. N. Atomic Control Plans

No Bomb Stockpiles, Moscow Claims

By A. I. GOLDBERG

Lake Success, Nov. 12 (AP)—The United Nations expects another blast from Russia in the debate on atomic control today.

At least ten speakers are on the list to talk before the special political committee considering control proposals. The debate probably will go over into next week.

John Hickerson, U. S. Assistant Secretary of State, yesterday gave the U. S. answer to Russia's claim that the Soviet Union uses atomic energy only for peaceful land clearing purposes.

Hickerson said the United States is both using and sharing its atomic knowledge throughout the world for medical and research purposes. He called on the Russians to say what they are doing on a share basis.

Then Hickerson said "if nations have devices that can level mountains, they also have devices that can level cities." That is why the United Nations (majority) plan provides for an international cooperative to take over all such dangerous materials and facilities and to make sure that they are used for peaceful purposes only.

As Hickerson spoke, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was absent from the committee meeting. Vishinsky had made Russia's statement on Thursday and said that his country was not stockpiling atom bombs, but could if necessary.

Eight other nations announced yesterday they favored the majority plan. The plan has been restated in a proposal by Canada and France to seek an agreement for international control and rigid inspection by continuing discussion among the big five powers and Canada.

An Argentine proposal to declare the atom bomb outlawed as an aggressive weapon also mustered some support in the committee.

British Nudism Cults Booming

More Walking Naked Than Ever Before

By ARTHUR W. WHITE

London, Nov. 12 (AP)—Nudism is booming in Britain. More people are walking around naked than ever before.

Not in public, of course—the law frowns on that—but in flourishing "naturist" camps scattered throughout the country.

Leaders of the open-air cult say happily they've never seen anything like it.

Britain's few hundred timid pre-war nudists have grown into a lusty movement of 50,000 strong. In 1938 there were 20 nudist clubs. Now there are 60. Many non-club "naturists" enjoy life in the raw in the privacy of their own homes and gardens.

The British Sun Bathing Association (BSBA) biggest nudist group—has just voted to incorporate nudism, and a subsidiary company of 200 shareholders.

Right now the clammy British winter has driven all except the hardest "naturists" into long underwear. But the BSBA hopes next summer will be the best ever for the one out of every 1,000 Britons it says likes to frolic naked in the sun.

The burning question: Will the sun cooperate?

It did in 1949. It was the sunniest summer for 16 years.

Industry Suspicious Of Lewis Feelers For New Coal Pact

By NORMAN WALKER

Washington, Nov. 12 (AP)—Both the government and coal industry leaders looked warily today at John L. Lewis' peace feelers for a new miners contract.

Neither showed any signs of jumping at the union leader's bid to meet with Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching "or anybody else," including the mine operators.

Ching said he had no present plans to call new coal peace meetings and the government contemplated no new moves until Monday, at least.

The coal operators said there seemed to be no use meeting with Lewis again until he tailors down his demands more to their liking. They want an extension of the

People Stand Back Of Tito

Premier Supported In Feud With Reds

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 12 (AP)—Premier-Marshall Tito said yesterday the whole Yugoslav people is united in supporting his fight against Soviet domination.

He told a group of Yugoslav newsmen his government didn't know how the people would react when it split with the Communists more than 16 months ago. But now, he said, the situation had eased because 98 per cent of the people were behind him.

He said the Yugoslavs were "ready to tell out to the end" in the bitter feud against Russian attempts to unseat his Communist regime, which has demanded "equal rights" with all other Communist states and has refused to follow blindly the Russian orders.

Outwardly, Tito said, Yugoslavia now has "all the world against us." But this, he said, was only partly true because the "progressive world is learning the truth about us."

He was obviously speaking of the rising Yugoslav campaign to spread "Titoist" ideas of independence throughout the Communist world.

The marshal indicated that his ideals were still staunchly Communist and opposed to western capitalism.

Pistol Toter Held For Slaying Rival In Saginaw Tavern

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Police hunted today a pistol-toting foundry worker accused of slaying a Saginaw rival in a tavern brawl over his ex-wife.

The fugitive was identified as Herman Pelayo, 40. Police said the victim of the shooting, Thomas M. Villanova, 34, had married Pelayo's former wife.

The shooting took place Friday night in front of a tavern where the pair had engaged in an argument.

Witnesses told police Pelayo followed Villanova out of the bar and shot him in the back of the head with a .32 caliber pistol.

While a crowd gathered, he fled.

State Farm Bureau Opposed To Brannan Income Subsidy Plan

East Lansing, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Michigan State Farm bureau today was on record as opposed to the so-called Brannan plan for farm income subsidy.

Some 700 delegates to the bureau's convention yesterday approved a resolution declaring that artificial controls over production are dangerous for the welfare of agriculture.

Another resolution, however, gave reluctant approval to present crop price support programs.

It represented the bureau as favoring "minimum guarantees or floors under farm prices with flexible supports tied to the amount a commodity is in surplus."

Doomed Cartoonist Still Alive At 75; Three Doctors Dead

Hollywood, Nov. 12 (AP)—Artists and newspaper friends will help Jimmy Swinnerton, veteran cartoonist and painter of desert scenes, celebrate his 75th birthday tomorrow night.

Preparing for the party, Swinnerton, creator of "Little Jimmy" and "Canyon Kiddies" recalled that nearly a half-century ago he was sent to Palm Springs, suffering from tuberculosis. Doctors gave him a month to live.

"The three doctors are all dead," Swinnerton observed.

Decisions About German Future Remain Secret

Acheson Gives Report At Heidelberg

By JAMES DEVLIN

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 12 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson meets in Heidelberg today with America's top military leaders in Europe. What they will discuss remained a closely guarded secret last night.

Acheson's arrival for a four-day visit in Germany was accompanied by a flood of rumors about Germany's position in western defense plans. Outstanding was a rumor from Paris that the Elbe river dividing the western zone would be considered the western "defense line," rather than the Rhine. American officials declined to confirm these reports.

The top U. S. diplomat is scheduled to meet tomorrow at Bonn with the heads of the west German republic, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and the president, Dr. Theodor Heuss. Allied observers here believe Acheson will give them a general outline of what was decided when he conferred last week in Paris with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and France's foreign minister, Robert Schuman.

Steel Output Curbed
Acheson himself told reporters yesterday only that the Paris conference decided to keep German steel production down to its present ceiling of 11,500,000 tons a year.

In the most general terms the communiqué issued by the ministers at the end of their meeting said that they proposed to "support and foster the progressive integration of the German people into the European community."

German production and possible abandonment of most of the huge program of dismantling of German industries were said to be major issues in the foreign ministers' talks.

It was reported that France had hedged on an outright decision pending discussion of the whole German problem in the French national assembly, which meets Nov. 22.

The Germans, eager to see the dismantling program halted, showed considerable disappointment at the vagueness of the big three announcements at the end of their meeting.

Deer Hunters Jam Roads To Peninsula

St. Ignace, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Deer hunters swarmed to Michigan Upper Peninsula woods today in possible record numbers.

As a line of cars extended for miles south of the Straits of Mackinac below Mackinaw City, the state conservation department estimated an increase of ten per cent over last year.

On the pre-season weekend last year 41,000 hunters and 18,000 cars crossed the straits.

Yugoslavia Scraps Albanian Treaty, Charges Hostility

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 12 (AP)—Yugoslavia scrapped her treaty of friendship with Albania today and charged that country with acts of hostility she said were provoked by Soviet Russia.

It marked the first time Premier Marshal Tito's independent Communist government has taken the initiative in breaking off friendship pacts with Cominform countries.

Previously Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria all cast aside those ties with Yugoslavia in steps verging on a break in diplomatic relations.

Governor Backs Up Party Chairman In Kent County Scrap

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Hicks G. Griffiths, Michigan Democratic chairman, has Gov. Williams' backing in his latest war with the Kent county Democrats.

The chief executive praised Griffiths' "single-minded devotion to his job and integrity" after a Kent county group of "old-line" party members criticized the state chairman for taking sides in Detroit's non-partisan mayoralty campaign.

Williams also chided the critics for the "quarrelling" within party ranks.

"Loyalty to the party's program demands that we all get together for victory in 1950," he said.

Four members of the Kent county Democratic committee signed a recommendation yesterday for Griffiths' removal. They branded him as "handpicked" by Williams and objected to his public backing of George Edwards, loser in Detroit's race for mayor.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 12 (AP)—Communist treatment of the American consul general at Mukden has dealt a sharp new setback to Communist China's chances of obtaining American recognition any time in the foreseeable future.

Top state department officials are privately "burned up" at the way in which local authorities at Mukden have handled the case of 56-year-old Angus Ward. They are irked too at the cold shoulder which the American government has received in its attempts to get any information on the matter from national Communist leaders at Peiping.

Ward has been held in jail at Mukden since October 24. Two American and two European members of his staff have been held with him. All are charged with having beaten a Chinese employee, early in October as the result of an alleged wage dispute.

The state department disclosed Thursday that the consul general at Peiping, O. Edmund Clubb, had sent a letter to Gen. Chou En-lai, the Communist foreign minister, demanding Ward's release and asking information about him. The department said that no reply had been received.

Luxury Liner Hits Rocks Off Mexico; 55 Aboard Saved

Los Angeles, Nov. 12 (AP)—The luxury liner Corsair, former yacht of J. Pierpont Morgan, ran aground on rocks at the entrance to the harbor of Acapulco, Mexico, early today.

About 55 passengers and the crew, believed to be more than that number, were taken off safely by a flotilla of small boats, including lifeboats of the 343-foot vessel. No injuries were reported.

Among the passengers was Maj. Gen. David Prescott Barrows, former president of the University of California and his wife.

First detailed information came from Ricardo Derislan, manager of an Acapulco hotel. He telephoned here that:

The 2699-ton "Corsair" left Acapulco at midnight for the United States. Some 15 minutes later she crashed on the rocks and began listing slightly.

Passengers, most of them clad in flimsy nightclothes, rushed on deck, badly frightened. Some were put aboard lifeboats and several boats were dispatched from the harbor to pick up the others. A skeleton crew remained aboard. Capt. H. Hedden of Vancouver, B. C., is the skipper.

Two Dead As Auto Hits Train At Uby

Uby, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—A car plunged into a freight train standing at a crossing last night, killing one man and fatally injuring another.

The victims were: Herbert H. Griska, 22, of Minden City, driver of the car. He was instantly killed.

Elmer Peplinski, 24, of Parisville, who died today at Hubbard Memorial hospital in Bad Axe.

Seriously injured were Martin J. Osantowski, 24, Minden City, and Jerome Ertman, 21, Parisville. The mishap occurred at a Pere Marquette crossing in Uby, a Huron county community. The impact of the crash drove the car halfway under the train.

Boy Truant Gets Spank And Tip On Detroit Dope Ring

Detroit, Nov. 12 (AP)—A sharp-eyed youngster who skipped school and saw a holdup may have put police on the trail of a narcotics robbery gang.

At least the authorities indicated such a possibility today.

At the same time 14-year-old Clifford Roberts dealt with a profound problem, to wit:

How can a boy enjoy being a hero when he faces a paddling from his pa?

Clifford, playing hooky, saw four men hold up a jewelry store in suburban Hazel Park yesterday.

The proprietor, Jack Litsky, 57, was bound and gagged and locked in a back room. The robbers took cigarette lighters and some money from the safe.

Outside, Clifford watched with interest.

The robbers fled in a car. But Clifford had jotted down the license number. He turned it over to police.

Soon afterwards police arrested James Lanasa, 26; Joseph Messina, 24, and William Curro and Edgar Keith, both 17.

There were three guns in their possession, police said.

The holdup squad said there was evidence that the four were linked with three men who were seized earlier for investigation in recent drug store robberies.

Narcotics were stolen in the latter holdups.

At school later yesterday Clifford was penalized. His teacher said he'd have to stay over an hour after class four days next week.

At home his dad dressed him down.

Cabinet Change Set For Monday

Chapman To Become Interior Secretary

By VERN HAUGLAND
Washington, Nov. 12 (AP)—Oscar L. Chapman, a mild-mannered man who likes to cook and to collect paper weights, is due to become Secretary of the Interior Monday in everything but name.

President Truman, yesterday chose Chapman, the present undersecretary, to become secretary effective December 1.

The present secretary, Julius A. (Cap) Krug, 41, suddenly announced Thursday that he is quitting effective the end of this month.

A top ranking interior official told a reporter it was understood in talks with the White House that Chapman would assume his new duties, in effect, at the start of next week. This would leave Krug free to depart as early as he wishes.

Chapman, five feet eight and a half inches tall and weighing a solid 175 pounds is a smiling self-effacing man who talks little— with a somewhat southern drawl dating back to his origin in Virginia—and neither smokes nor drinks.

He is a Methodist and a charter member of the American Legion.

His first wife died in 1931, and in February 1940 he married his secretary he had hired three years earlier.

Pitchblende Deposit Found In California

Los Angeles, Nov. 12 (AP)—Discovery of a rich pitchblende deposit—source of radium and uranium—has been reported by two Los Angeles prospectors.

Richard E. Darnell and George Taylor claimed yesterday that ore from a giant slab between California's Panamint mountains and Death Valley had been assayed at $16,000 to $17,000 a ton. Darnell said that rats of ordinary camera film taken into their mine shaft had been exposed by radioactive rays.

Rats Devour Crops In South Texas Area

Rio Grande City, Tex., Nov. 12 (AP)—Farmers near this south Texas city hope poisoned grain will take the place of a piped in saving crops from hungry rats.

County agricultural agents said pack kangaroo and field rats have devoured tomatoes and green peppers as high as a foot off the ground. There is one report of rats eating citrus fruits.

The invasion of rats started about three weeks ago near La Grulla, Tex., 15 miles east of here. The hordes of rats have swarmed over between 4,000 and 5,000 acres of fertile farm lands along the Rio Grande river bottoms.

Strike Peace Sends 177,000 Back To Work

U. S. And Inland Sign Pension Agreement

Pittsburgh, Nov. 12 (AP)—The most costly steel strike in American history virtually ended today after the CIO United Steelworkers signed the mammoth United States Steel Corporation to a pension-insurance pact.

Inland steel corporation agreed to a similar peace agreement on the Bethlehem pattern three and one-half hours after the big steel settlement last night.

That left only 124,600 strikers idle of about 513,000 steelworkers who walked off their jobs last October 1 in support of demands for company-paid pensions.

All In By Monday
The end of the strike against big steel, largest steel producer in the world, gave 177,000 unionists the "go back to work" high sign. The agreement covers only 150,000 employees in six major operating subsidiaries but the corporation said the union agreed that all workers should return at once. Formal contracts will be signed later with other subsidiaries.

Union President Philip Murray predicted 90 per cent of basic steel—the plants which produce raw steel—"will be signed to the new Bethlehem type contract by Monday morning."

The Bethlehem settlement, signed October 31, provides $100 minimum monthly pension payments to workers aged 65 who have served 25 years. The workers do not have to pay into the fund but they do contribute to federal Social Security which is added to company pensions to make up the $100 total. Workers with fewer years of service will receive proportionately smaller pensions.

The agreement also provides for a five cents an hour social insurance program. That cost is shared equally by workers and company.

No Wage Changes
Wages are unchanged for steelworkers now earning an average of $1.65 an hour.

The Bethlehem pact broke the log jam in the long strike. Once the country's second largest steel company pointed the way, Jones and Laughlin, number four producer, and Republic Steel, third biggest steelmaker, and other

Deer Tries Out Sofa In Bethlehem, Pa. Home

Bethlehem, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Daniel Reynolds will always remember Armistice Day, 1949, as a most unpeaceful day.

She was alone in the house yesterday when the sound of shattering glass sent her running to her living room. There on a sofa reposed a six point deer.

At sight of Mrs. Reynolds, the buck fled leaving a trail of upset tables, lamps and chairs behind him.

Oscar Chapman Known In City

New Secretary Had Relatives Here

President Truman's appointment of Oscar L. Chapman as the new secretary of interior to succeed Julius Krug is of considerable interest in Escanaba.

Chapman was the husband of the former Olga Edholm, who died some years ago in Denver, Colo. He visited in Escanaba about ten years ago with Dr. and Mrs. C. Albert Lund at the Bethany Lutheran church parsonage. Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Lund, now deceased, were sisters.

Mrs. Chapman was a nurse in Denver when she met her husband who served for a while as chief production officer in Judge Ben Lindsey's juvenile court.

Entering politics, Chapman managed the successful campaigns for Colorado's U. S. Senators Costigan and Adams. After Roosevelt's election, he went to Washington as assistant to Secretary Ickes. One of his first assignments was as director of an economic rehabilitation program in the Virgin Islands.

Chapman gave the principal address at the dedication of the new Isle Royale National Park a few years ago. He was accompanied on the trip by Wendell Lund, formerly of Escanaba, who is now engaged in the practice of law in Washington, D. C.

City Board Favors Water Tower Site

The city recreation board last night unanimously adopted a resolution recommending that the City of Escanaba make available to the Escanaba Board of Education property near the city water tower as a possible site for relocation of the Escanaba athletic field.

The property recently was purchased by the city for recreational purposes. The city recreation board proposed the area for relocation of the athletic field provided the board of education decides to establish a new athletic field more accessible to the proposed new senior high school. The recreation board further recommended that in the event the school board desires to relocate its athletic field near the water tower that an agreement be entered into to provide multiple recreation use of the property and protect the recreational objectives of both the city and the board of education.

Supt. John A. Lemmer attended the meeting and emphasized that the board of education has made no decision regarding relocation of the athletic field. The matter has come up for discussion, however, because of the proposed construction of a new senior high school. Further interest in relocation developed as a result of the fire that destroyed the bleachers at the present athletic field site. Lemmer said, however, that in the event the board decided to relocate the field to the site proposed by the recreation board, the school board would favor the multiple use idea.

Plans for the annual ice revue also were discussed at the meeting Friday night. Mrs. Jeanette Le-Captain, revue director, attended the meeting and outlined her recommendations. It is planned to reduce the number of participants in the revue this winter and concentrate upon improvement of the chorus numbers.

Tower Work Is Dangerous, But Gets In Your Blood

Thomas Gray of Greenville, N. C., who is currently working in Escanaba, spends most of his days on a very high plane. His life is constantly in danger.

And mighty serious danger it is. A far cry from the busy, but quiet life of a North Carolina tobacco-grower.

Gray is foreman of the construction gang which is putting up the four 285-foot towers for the enlarged facilities of WDBC, Escanaba's radio station. As such, he has to dodge falling wrenches and equipment, see that one fellow doesn't endanger the others, and be certain of his own footing when climbing the high, skeleton towers.

Wife Travels Too

The ex-tobacco-grower has been putting up towers for Tower Construction company for 11 years. He's worked in nearly every state in the union, Mexico, Canada and the islands near the Arctic Circle. Outside of the cold weather he experienced in the Baffin Islands and Labrador, he has no kick.

Mrs. Gray, who married him five years ago, likes traveling around with her husband, though living is much harder. Most of the time they are in their house trailer, or rent tourist cabins or apartments on the way. She has been in over half the states of the country.

"When we were first married, I worried a great deal about Thomas. So many things can happen on jobs like this. But after awhile one gets used to it," Mrs. Gray says.

"A few years ago, we decided to give up tower work, and raise tobacco in North Carolina. We did it for a year. We made good, but it was a mistake. Once a person decides to like tower work, it gets in your blood and you hate to give it up. When our little girl, Linda, who'll soon be three, has to start school, we'll have to give it up. Both of us will be sorry," Mrs. Gray states.

Towers Carry Static

The Grays like Escanaba and say it is one of the friendliest cities they've lived in.

"One doesn't always find a city so friendly. People here are very eager to make friends and are hospitable," they observed.

Many factors endanger men working on radio and television towers, Gray states. Some towers get "hot," especially when the tower under construction is near other radio towers.

"Tower steel carries some of the static and 'kicks' or shocks a worker when he touches it," the foreman says. "When clouds start forming over an area, preceding an electrical storm, towers carry some charge and can shock a fellow if he touches it," he elaborates.

Sometimes too, towers get hot under steady rays of the sun. Then tower men wear gloves while working. Most of them climb towers without a ladder or lift. They step from one cross piece to another, and send the steel up on a lift.

Work In Rivers

Rain constitutes another hazard. Workers find it dangerous to climb up towers when steel is wet. Sometimes they have to in an emergency, but otherwise they stay on the ground.

Gray said that last year while he worked on a state police tower in Alabama, crews spent 90 days in the area to do 30 days work. "It rained for days on end," he recalled.

These tower workers not only have to be nimble, but steady in high places. For radio stations operating with amplitude modulation, the ideal location for the tower is the wettest place in the area... usually in the middle of a river. Then they have to turn sailor, and ferry material and equipment to the base. After that, all they have to do is hoist it up, sometimes 500 to 600 feet, and put it in place!

No Drinking

Frequency modulation stations put their towers on the highest hill or building in the area. Television works the same way.

When crews put up high towers, they soon learn how long a company worker will last. If a fellow is "green," he may "freeze" when up in the tower. If he does, the other fellows take him down with ropes. It's usually the last time the "green" one goes up.

Working in high places requires a special type of nerve and balance, which a fellow either has or doesn't have, Gray states. Newly-hired workers spend three months on the ground, observing how the other fellow does it. "If he goes up, and freezes, he is generally not interested in coming back," the North Carolinian says.

Tower workers are not allowed to drink, and are cautioned against excessive smoking. If the worker has "had too much," or is short winded from smoking, he is endangering both himself and the other fellow workers, the couple explains. Insurance companies, which charge tower workers about four times the average premium for coverage, will not honor claims resulting from drink-provoked accidents.

Emergencies

Wives of workers assume much of the responsibility for keeping young unmarried workers in line. They take turns inviting them to dinner, and arrange entertainment to interest and include them. It works fine, Mrs. Gray observes. "Since my husband has been working on towers, he has dismissed only two because of drinking."

"Finding suitable living accommodations is one of the worst headaches," Mrs. Gray notes. Residents in a community often don't want trailers parked near their homes. And if tower workers rent rooms or cabins, residents may eye them suspiciously. Workers often park their trailers at the site of their work, if proper electrical and water facilities are available.

Emergency work creates a problem. Planes may hit towers, cars may seriously damage guy wires, and sometimes storms put them out of commission. A call then is placed to the nearest tower foreman, and he has to proceed immediately, with crew.

"Close Calls"

Once in Tuscaloosa, Ala., during a big football game, a car cut two guy wires on a state police tower. Gray and his wife motored to the city in a heavy truck, with the crew in the back end. Two of the fellows ended up in the biggest hotel's bridal suite, and others took rooms, catch as catch can.

Asked if wives of tower men complain much when traveling from job to job, Mrs. Gray remarked, "Oh, Brother."

Standard procedure is for the rest of the wives to speak little when another complains. "It gradually wears itself down after awhile," Mrs. Gray comments.

Tower men have a lot of fun when they get together, the couple notes. They usually talk about the places they have worked in, difficult jobs, and catastrophes. If they read in newspapers that a couple men fell from a tower, or someone was hit by a falling piece of steel, they generally have personal incidents of "close calls" to remember.

The Grays get home about twice a year, usually in mid-summer and at Christmas. When not talking about towers, they discuss the tobacco crops. At the same time, they usually tell others how much they prefer tower work to anything else.

Work on the WDBC towers is near completion, including installation of 120 ground wires, 365 feet long, on each tower. The Grays plan to leave early next week for Duluth, Minn., where Gray will supervise construction of a tower for a natural gas line.

Lake Shore Firm Makes Foreign Deal

Iron Mountain, Mich. — Expansion of the Lake Shore Engineering company's conveyor manufacturing division through a reciprocal agreement with J. Collis and Sons, Ltd., of England, widely known British manufacturers, was announced today by F. A. Flodin, president of Lake Shore, shortly after his return from England, where the negotiations were completed.

The Collis company, manufacturers of the Collis Truck, Collis stacker, Motaveyor and the Transveyor, have entered into a contract with Lake Shore whereby the British firm will manufacture, principally at its Codaxton works, in Wales, the conveyors now being made by Lake Shore at Iron Mountain and Marquette. Under the same agreement, Lake Shore will produce, at its Iron Mountain and Marquette plants, the Collis truck, stacker, Motaveyor, Rolaveyor and the Transveyor, now being produced at Collis plants in England and Wales.

UP THEY GO — Climbing steel towers is everyday work for these Tower Construction company employees who are building four radio towers for WDBC. Here you see them in the earlier stages of the job. Though the work carries high hazards, the workmen like it, and prefer tower work to other types. Tower Construction company builds about 70 per cent of all state police, radio and television towers on the North American continent. When the job at Soo Hill is completed, the crew, headed by Thomas Gray of Greenville, N. C., will build a natural gas tower in Minnesota. The crews work both summer and winter, and utilize army-design clothes when working in cold, stormy weather.

Truman Invited By Lutherans

Receives Invitation From Wendell Lund

Washington—President Truman this week told a delegation led by Wendell Lund, formerly of Escanaba and now a prominent Washington lawyer, that he hoped to be able to attend a nationwide annual meeting of the Augustana Lutheran church planned for Washington next June.

Lund, whose father, Rev. C. A. Lund, died the Bethany Lutheran congregation in Escanaba for over 40 years, informed the president more than a thousand delegates are expected, including representatives from 38 states and leading Lutheran churches in Europe.

Rev. Lund, now retired and living in Midland, was for years vice-president of the national organization and president of the Superior Conference.

Mr. Truman told Lund, former director of Michigan Unemployment Compensation Board and now a law partner of Ex-Senator Prentiss Brown, he was very interested in the coming convention. The President discussed with the group the increasingly important part religion must play in the ideologically-split world of today.

With Washington's sequential celebration set for 1950, the convention planning committee, wary of probable crowded conditions, has already made arrangements for most of the delegates.

Voters Reject Two Mill Tax

DELTA county voters Thursday were decisive in their rejection of a proposal to levy a two mill tax for a period of five years for county road purposes.

The vote was comparatively light, totaling only 2,678 in the entire county, but it was indicative of the sentiment. Every precinct in the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone turned down the proposal by a margin of two to one or better. Even the township voters who stood to gain the most if the proposal had carried failed to show any decisive sentiment for the special tax. The issue carried in the townships by only a few votes. Taken as a whole the township voters were about evenly divided on the proposal.

As previously indicated the two mill proposal took its worst pasting in the cities where voters apparently felt that the county road problem was more a matter for the townships to solve than for the residents of the cities. The cities, of course, have their own problems of street finances and such improvements are assessed directly to owners of adjacent properties. This undoubtedly contributed to the decisive rejection of the two mill proposal in Escanaba and Gladstone.

Just how the road commission will solve its financial problem is uncertain, now that the special tax has been defeated. Stringent economies will be necessary but that will not rehabilitate the roads. The best guess is that the counties of the state will increase pressure on the legislature to provide more funds for road purposes. That may ultimately mean higher gasoline taxes to pay the bill.

Airline's Capital Demands Irregular

IN a discussion of Upper Peninsula air-mail service—or rather, lack of it—Rep. John Bennett of the 12th district, visiting here this week, pointed out that Wisconsin Central Airline's request for $50,000 in Upper Peninsula capital as a condition for establishing air service to Northern Michigan was both unethical and irregular.

The congressman emphasized that when the Civil Aeronautics Board granted a franchise to Wisconsin Central Airlines to serve the Upper Peninsula, it was not a grant that permitted the airline to establish terms or conditions under which the company would provide airmail service to the area. The refusal of Upper Peninsula cities to provide the capitalization undoubtedly is an important factor in the airline's policy of procrastination. Now the Upper Peninsula cities have lost faith in Wisconsin Central and prefer that Nationwide Airlines of Detroit be granted a franchise to serve this area.

A hearing on this problem will be held January 16. This will be the opportunity for the U. P. Cities to put their cards on the table and make their bid for the kind of air service that they want and deserve. The burden of proof will be upon them because the CAB has already granted a franchise to Wisconsin Central and will have to be shown that it was a mistake.

Virtually everyone in the Upper Peninsula knows it was a mistake but the CAB may not be easy to convince.

When Lake Ships Burned Wood

A correspondent wants to know how long ago Great Lakes steamers used wood for fuel instead of coal or oil.

During the 1850s all lake vessels with engines used wood for fuel, according to the old records. Stops were established at intervals along the banks of rivers and on the islands, where great quantities of four-foot logs were stacked.

During the winter months pioneer farmers made welcome additions to their incomes by cutting and selling to the dealers the abundant wood cleared from their land. They did this just as hundreds of Upper Peninsula and Michigan farmers later "went to the woods" and lumberjacked it during the cold months.

They cut, hauled and stacked this wood for about a dollar a cord, and were paid cash for it. The wood was sold to the steamers for about two dollars a cord, and the dealers in turn received cash on the nail for deliveries. The larger steamers used as much as fifty cords of wood a day, and they could carry 100 cords at a time.

The old chronicles say that the steamer Empire, plying between Buffalo and Chicago, consumed about 600 cords of wood on a round trip. This was equal to the timber on ten acres. There were drawbacks to wood as fuel. Hours were lost in loading it, extra crewmen were needed to handle it, and the wood occupied valuable space.

Later, self-propelled wood scows were used, carrying up to 200 cords of wood. The scow moved alongside a ship needing fuel, the wood was transferred while moving, lines were cast off and the steamer went on its way. This saved much time and was feasible with propeller ships, but could not be used with sidewheelers because of possible damage to the paddles.

42 Billions Is A Stack Of Money

MOST Americans are familiar with the fact that the United States government this year will spend 42 billion dollars for its various governmental affairs and services. Few of them realize just how much this amount of money really is in terms that everyone can understand.

The Northwestern National Life Insurance company has provided some estimates that are very enlightening.

The sum of 42 billion dollars would make a stack of $10 bills 240 miles high. It would equal the combined wages of 1,000,000 manufacturing workers at present average wage rates for 15 years.

It is a third greater than the total cash receipts for all the produce of America's six million farms in 1948.

It is slightly more than the United States government spent during the entire World War I.

It is more than the U. S. government spent in the 142 year period from 1776 through the fiscal year 1917-18.

It is more than one-sixth of our present national income.

It is $700 per American worker and $1,050 per American family.

It means spending $80,000 a minute for 24 hours a day for seven days a week for 52 weeks.

Anyone still doubt that the cost of federal government is too high?

Other Editorial Comments

POOR PUBLIC RELATIONS (Marquette Eagle-Star)

One of the most noticeable shortcomings of the Chicago and North Western railroad lies in its public relations, a good example of which was its arbitrary change in train schedules affecting the twin cities of Marquette and Menominee, and the supplementary order which followed.

The North Western took advantage of the federal coal consumption restrictions and cancelled the trains arriving in Marquette at 9:45 a. m. and departing at 2:54 p. m. Next it arbitrarily advanced the hour of the train which leaves Marquette at 5:32 p. m. to 2:54 and fouled up arrangements on mail and express shipments out of here, particularly the shipments of fish.

When the latter change was protested because of the hardship on shippers, the North Western decided to provide trucking service between here and Green Bay with the truck leaving at the time the 5:32 train used to depart. But the arrival and departure of mail is still fouled up and the trucking arrangement does not take into account that one truck couldn't possibly handle all the fish out of Marquette and Menominee during the peak shipping season for commercial fishermen. Tuesday night there were five tons of mail piled up at the North Western depot to be taken out on the 10:37 train.

In the whole arrangement the North Western railroad officials have been arbitrary. They have ignored the vital factors of the needs and good will of the communities the road serves. These changes might have been accomplished in a much different manner and with better service resulting of the North Western officials had been disposed to be less dictatorial and more conscious of the needs of the communities served for mail and express service.

ON MAKING MARTYRS (The Washington Post)

Martyrs, Gen. Bradley must understand, are made, not born. It is not so important to be 100 per cent right as to be 100 per cent certain of one's own rightness. Many a man has settled himself comfortably against the stake, secure in the knowledge that his martyrdom will be assured as soon as the match is applied to the faggots piled around him. The real reason for prevalence of martyrs, of course, is that there is always someone ready to apply the match.

The contradiction of ego—an exposition fire-eater who says he has never met his match.

We'd almost be willing to let reformers shut up everything if it included their mouths.

It's wise not to cash a check for a person who lacks balance.

DON'T FALL FOR SCHEMES TO REFORM OUR LANGUAGE

People are constantly sending me revolutionary schemes for (1) a new phonetic English alphabet, (2) a spelling reform, (3) a universal world language.

Aside from the fact that the alphabet will not be changed, that campaigns for spelling reform have always failed, and that the many proposed world languages (esperanto, etc.) have met . . . it is saddening to observe that most of the people who dream up the schemes are either half-educated or actually illiterate.

Let me cite a typical example of what regularly comes in my mail. A broadside declares: "The time has come for a World Language. Simplified English is the language for which the world has been waiting for centuries. It can be learned in a single day. We will need your financial help. Mail your contributions at once."

Here are a few highlights from "Simplified English": "Say, I am, you am, he am, she am, it am, yous am, they am. The feminine gender is former with the suffix: -ette; actor, acterette; sister, docterette; host, hostette. Say: Give that to be. Come with we. Show they the way. We have an apple. She work here to. That am too much. Keep of the grass."

Incredible? Yes. Even so, this outlandish linguistic scheme no doubt has attracted many followers who are now convinced

Marshal Tito Is Interviewed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

(Editor's Note: We break into the sequence of the Marquis Childs columns on Germany during his current European trip because of the importance of his exclusive interview with Marshal Tito. The following is the first of two columns.)

Belgrade, Yugoslavia.—Those who seek refuge from the oppression dictated by the Soviet Union in its neighboring countries will find asylum and a job in Yugoslavia.

This was Marshal Tito's assurance, given to me today in an exclusive interview at his villa on the outskirts of Belgrade.

Already, according to Tito, thousands of exiles from Albania, Bulgaria and Hungary have taken refuge here. Tito would not attempt to estimate the number more closely than that but said that before the Albania border was tightened whole families had fled into Yugoslavia, bringing with them their household utensils.

"But we do not interfere in any way with the internal affairs of any other country," the marshal said. "That is what the Soviet Union tries to accuse us of, but it is untrue."

NO TITOISM

Asked about "Titoism" in neighboring countries that recently have been the scene of carefully staged trials, Tito's round and frequently smiling face suddenly became serious. There is, said Tito, no such thing as Titoism.

"It is not correct to speak of Titoism," the marshal said firmly. "In each of these countries there is resistance to what is happening because the course being followed is not the true course of Marxism and Leninism."

"We here in Yugoslavia are following the true Marxism science both in principle and application and as it relates both to our internal affairs and our relations with other nations."

Tito said that the forthcoming trial of Traicho Kostov, former vice premier of Bulgaria, will link the "traitors" with charges aimed at Yugoslavia. The pattern in Sofia, Tito predicted, will be similar to that in Hungary where Laszlo Rajk and others were charged with treason and Titoism, confessed and were sentenced to death or long imprisonment. It does not matter whether the name is Rajk or what," the Yugoslav premier said. "If there had not been Rajk, someone else would have been found to play the same role. These so-called trials are run the same course."

"What makes the forthcoming Bulgarian trial more extraordinary is that we here in Yugoslavia find unmasked Kostov, who during the war entered the service of the invaders. But that will make no difference to those who now are preparing his trial."

RUSSIA RULES ROUMANIA

Roumania, in the opinion of Tito, is a special case. First is the fact that during the war it sided with the enemy and was invaded and occupied by the Soviet army. Today the regime is so completely subservient to Russia that apparently it is not considered worth while or even necessary to hold a so-called trial in Bucharest. Tito, however, did not rule out the possibility altogether if later such a trial should be considered useful in discrediting Yugoslavia.

Marshal Tito repeated hints thrown out in several recent statements and speeches that there is a possible break within the Politburo in Moscow. However, he would not say that there is anything as definite as a split.

"But you must remember," he said, "that certain people have disappeared. Voznesensky is one. There are indications of differences of opinion. It is very hard to say, of course, what is happening. But the good sense of the Russian people does not approve the attitude to the Russian government. That is the important thing."

"The present policy of the Soviet Union will last for some time, perhaps considerable time, but it must change."

Throughout the interview Marshal Tito was careful not to say anything that could be taken as deliberately offensive to the governments of the satellite states. This was true even in his comments on the recent action of the government in Warsaw making Soviet Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky marshal of the Polish armies and minister of defense.

"That could never happen in Yugoslavia," he said with stern emphasis.

TITO APPEARS CONFIDENT

Tito was cautious in predicting Russia's next move in the cold war being waged by the Kremlin in eastern Europe. He admitted that the Rokossovsky appointment might be a precedent, with Russian overlord named to key defense and interior posts in other satellite nations. But, he quickly added, only the future course of events could tell, and to prophesy was highly dangerous.

Marshal Tito seemed to be a supremely confident man. If he has any serious fears for the future he certainly does not show it on the surface. He is easy and informal. His face frequently lights up with a broad smile.

In a following column I will report the reasons for Tito's confidence as he gave them to me in this interview that ranged over all the problems of this country, whose people have endured so much bloodshed and terror in the past decade.

that "yous am," and "that am to much," and all the rest of the preposterous proposals constitute a great step forward in setting up a world language.

And the disheartening fact is that the people who support these crackpot schemes for language improvement actually assist in spreading ignorance and debasement.

I have no solution to the problem except to urge my readers not to become involved in schemes for changing the alphabet, reforming English spelling, etc. You'll succeed only in confusing yourself and in wasting a lot of time and energy.

It would be far better to seek to improve one's knowledge of American English as it is and will continue to be—the most widely spoken tongue in the world, which is already in the process of becoming the world's universal language.

"Whaddya Mean I'm Overdrawn?—"

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

CLASS APART—At this season of the year the man who is a deer hunter becomes a beast of another color. He is not the same docile male who put up the storm windows and carried out the ashes.

He is a hunter! A mighty hunter. A man among men, a nimrod who is trekking in pursuit of the elusive quarry as they say in the newspapers.

When a man becomes a deer hunter he is a changed creature. He is unable to remember where he put his hunting boots, find his rifle shells, or effectively handle a safety pin to attach his license tag number to the back of his hunting coat.

Weak and ineffective though he may be, his Missus looks upon him with new respect. For he is to depart for the Hunting Camp, an establishment whose walls might crumble if its doorway ever admitted a female. And the majority of women have a certain undefined respect for their menfolk when they prepare for a gathering of "the boys."

SECRET SOCIETY—It is not our intention to reveal all that goes on at a hunting camp. Men are entitled to their secrets—like who dropped the wool sock in the bean soup and what the boys said when they found that the wife of one of the men had packed him off to camp with a pair of pajamas.

No, there is a veil of reticence that must be drawn around that hunting camp if its air of mystery (to the Little Woman) is to be preserved. What goes on inside it is better she should never see. She might laugh right out loud.

NOT WELCOME—A few years ago we wrote that men do not welcome having their wives accompany them to deer hunting camp. This brought an almost feverish response from one man who said that he would no more think of going hunting without his wife than he would without a gun.

We gathered the impression that both were effective weapons and the man was not so much defending his inclusion of the Little Woman in the hunting party as her insistence on being there.

The subject is still a tender one to debate, but suppose we reiterate that "in the majority" hunters prefer an all-male poker party and only men at a hunting camp.

Most women know this and keep a discreet distance from their spouse during deer hunting season. While they may accompany him on a foray after grouse, or he his companion on a fishing trip, they step gracefully out of the picture come Nov. 15.

THE RUGGED MALE—Men put on a somewhat amazing demonstration of endurance and physical stamina during deer hunting season. Individuals whose exertion throughout the year has been confined to poking the buttons on adding machines shoulder a rifle and gallon twenty miles in pursuit of a deer.

Returning to camp they gallop back and forth for another twenty miles telling how they trailed, tracked, spotted, shot, missed, followed, slouched and finally gave up on account of darkness. Still fresh as a daisy, they sit up for another five hours playing cards and listening to stories from their pals on their experiences of the day.

INTO THE PAST

20 Years Ago

Escanaba—Allison A. Arnold, member of the 1925 graduating class of Escanaba high school, is a member of the debating squad at Michigan State college.

Detroit—Rep. Herbert H. Clancy today sent a telegram to Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state, recommending that he communicate with American diplomats in China in behalf of the Rev. Ulrich Kreutzen, Franciscan missionary, who is held for $5,000 ransom by bandits near Wuchang. Rev. Kreutzen was assistant pastor at St. Joseph church in Escanaba before leaving for China. He is a native of Calumet, Mich., and has been in missionary work the past six years.

Escanaba—Julius Greenhoot has returned from an extended visit with relatives in Chicago and Washington, D. C.

10 Years Ago

Escanaba—The Delft Theatre, built by the Foster construction company of Milwaukee for John A. Semer, will observe its 25th anniversary Nov. 16. Decorations in the building, when built in 1914, were by Conrad Schmitt of Milwaukee. "The Sunnyside of Broadway" with George Browning and Louis Swan, was the first show presented in the building.

Escanaba—Mrs. George Sullivan is leaving today for Chicago to spend the winter months with her son, Howard.

Gladstone—J. R. Barrett of Flint, a former resident of Gladstone and a brother of Mrs. G. E. Dehlin, has been promoted from general superintendent of the motor division to general night superintendent at the Flint Chevrolet division plant in Flint.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Freeman of Engadine are the parents of a daughter born Nov. 9 at Mary's Maternity Home on Cherry street.

NEVER SLEPT BETTER—Husbands return from hunting camp to tell their wives that at camp they "never slept better in my life."

Perhaps you can judge for yourself, when you know they finally retire at a late hour, enmeshed in woolen underwear and woolen blankets, to slumber to the accompaniment of ear-shaking snores. They sleep well because they are exhausted. Next morning before day-break they are roused out to eat a hasty breakfast, grab rifles, and trot out to be on a deer run-way by sun-up.

This goes on for several days and then a sense of relaxation sets in. They get up a little less early, linger over coffee, hit the woods after sun-up, and come back in mid-morning for a snack. By the time hunting season ends they are beginning to enjoy their vacation unaccompanied by the hectic eagerness that marked the first days in the woods.

THE ENJOYMENT—Joking aside, deer hunters have a corner on fun. That is true, else there would be far fewer men go deer hunting. Hunters will tell you, and we believe them, that bagging a buck is a thrill—but life in camp and the good fellowship that accompanies it is the chief reward.

And we could name you quite a few men who go to camp well supplied with hunting equipment, yet have not fired a shot for many years. For them, hunting season is a restful vacation. They arise late, take a stroll in the woods if the weather is nice, and turn in early. Perhaps that is another reason why some men would prefer that their wives remain happily ignorant of what goes on in a hunting camp.

Too Early

Dear Editor:

Last week we celebrated Halloween with Carnivals and Masquerade Parties, and a good time was had by all. But wait—that must be wrong. Surely it wasn't last week, because this week we had the pre-Christmas Parade, the streets are festooned with greens and colored lights and the store windows are decorated for Christmas.

Well, I have consulted my calendar and sure enough, last week was Halloween. But doesn't Thanksgiving usually come in between Halloween and Christmas. Goodness! I'm all mixed up.

Seriously, the picture seems a little out of focus. The motive for bringing Christmas into the scene so early is obviously to get the Christmas shopping started. Escanaba is not alone in this movement. It is being done quite generally. From all that I have overheard, the idea is not popular here. It is very doubtful, I believe, as to whether or not any more business will accrue as a result of this advance showing of Christmas. People have just so much money to spend, and they will spend it for Christmas without any particular prodding.

Generally speaking, I believe that most people find satisfaction in the traditional sequence of the holidays throughout the calendar year. Now we seem to be shunting to one side one of the most traditional American holidays by ushering in Christmas on the heels of Halloween. And this is not being done because of the greater glory and significance of Christmas, but for bigger and better business. There is a definite limit to the length of time anyone can remain in a state of enthusiasm over anything, and at the present rate our enthusiasm will be spent long before Christmas is actually here.

The observance of Thanksgiving Day, instead of being overshadowed, might well be emphasized in these troubled times and every American reminded over and over again that this is still a nation that has much to be thankful for; that we should pause on at least one day of the year to remember how God has blessed us.

Why can't "Business" let us continue to live in the tenor of our established customs. Am I Unmodern.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

En Route Through Midwest.—On Armistice Day at Hays, Kansas, yesterday, I relaxed from the alleged crouching position under the cabinet table to tell something about people-to-people friendship.

I hope tolerant editors will forgive me if a devotee another column to the manner in which the American people, with no prompting and little encouragement from their government, have become, in effect, their own ambassadors.

What our diplomats and our military don't seem fully to realize are the following fundamental truths about human nature:

You can put all the arms in the world in Europeans' hands, but that doesn't necessarily make 'em fight.

You can send food and Marshall plan money to Atlantic pact nations, but they don't particularly appreciate it if it lacks the human touch.

We can keep on building A-bombs and 70 air groups and even giant airplane carriers until our pockets are empty and the American people are bled white. But this won't prevent war unless the people of Europe—especially those behind the iron curtain—are so friendly toward the American people that they oppose war.

Now in this columnist's humble opinion, the most optimistic developments in the world today are, first, the fact that certain of the iron curtain countries—Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia—are now restless and leaning more toward the United States. And second in the fact that the American people, tired and discouraged as some of them may be, are still working at wooing friends on a people-to-people basis.

PEACE DOESN'T MAKE HEADLINES

Wars and revolutions make headlines, but man's groping efforts toward peace don't. Sometimes they don't even make the inside pages of the big newspapers. Nevertheless when the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Charleston, W. Va., adopts a plan to bring 20 European young men to West Virginia for one year of employment and study, it's news—important news.

It's also news when the national headquarters of the Junior Chamber writes the state department proposing that it finance the trip of 100 young Russians to study in the United States.

This is news first because it takes considerable courage to make such a proposal. It might be misinterpreted as pro-Communist by some people. But the young businessmen who later will be helping to run this country have enough confidence in their country to know that once you get a group of young Russians over here—even though Communists—they're pretty sure to understand the American people and like them. And if you could get enough young Russians here on regular visits, it would eventually make a real dent in the iron curtain.

The state department, replying to the Junior Chamber, as usual was evasive. But meanwhile the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Texas has launched a plan called "Jaycee Universal Understanding" under which, for example, Amarillo, Texas, is co-operating with Salzburg, Austria, first by correspondence, later by financing the trip of a Salzburg citizen to Amarillo where they can swap ideas with him and discuss problems first-hand.

LABOR LEADERS HELP

This urge for more contact between peoples isn't confined to little business or to educational groups. It exists also among big business and labor unions. The Amalgamated Clothing workers has established a factory in Italy to demonstrate American mechanized methods to Italian workers. Irving Brown, an A. F. of L. representative in Brussels, has done more than many American ambassadors to give European labor leaders a true picture of American democracy. And Henry Ford, with no commercial advertising for his cars, is helping the American public to understand the United Nations by televising U. N. sessions every day.

Again, American airlines selected 30 key newspapermen from key European countries, even including iron curtain Finland, and took them on a complete tour of the U. S. A., all expenses paid. U. S. mayors, governors, and cabinet members were delighted to cooperate.

But when it came to the state department, Stanley Woodward, a stickler for protocol, refused to let them see President Truman. Finally wiser head Michael McDermott of the state department prevailed, and the European editors did see Truman.

As a result of American airlines' thoughtful patriotism, this group will correctly interpret the U. S. A. to the European press for years to come.

CITIES ADOPT CITIES

The above examples of individual American initiative are a mere cross-section of a great story that would take many columns to tell. Scores of towns and even villages in the U. S. A. are adopting or co-operating with cities in Europe. Butler county, Kansas, is working with Beaune, France; Neesho county, Kansas (my mother's old home), with Zevenbergen, Holland; Monroe, La., with Ingolstadt, Germany; Queensbury, Kentucky, with Stalath, Germany, and Worthington, Minn., with Crailsheim, Germany.

In the latter case, Worthington news is actually published from time to time in the Crailsheim papers, and a Worthington

Women Fall Hard For Men Over 40

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—With politics out of the way for another year, let us return to a quaint, old-fashioned subject that enralls us all. I refer to love — L'Amour, L'Amour, L'Amour.

The news from this crowded field is pleasant indeed to those dwelling in the shady years of life. For with no government subsidies of any kind, there has been wrought a "fair deal" for the middle-aged man in the politics of love. He has turned out to be the Romeo of our times.

HAL BOYLE

No longer do maidens sigh for the young man with an apple in his hand. They turn to the older, grayer man with a hundred acres of land. But he doesn't win them with his real estate. It's his sex appeal. For it isn't life that begins at 40 for the American man. It's love — you know, L'Amour, L'Amour, L'Amour.

The public awoke to this fact with the discovery that 57-year-old Ezio Pinza star of "South Pacific," was affecting the weaker sex in a way no other matinee idol has since Rudolph Valentino. This grandpa still has 'em gasping with his bass-bellied enchanted evening.

And it isn't just a one-man matter. The current issue of Cosmopolitan has found the same thing to be true in the movies: the real romantics—the eight top-drawing men film stars—are all over 40. Among the standouts are Bing Crosby, 45, Gary Cooper and Clark Gable, 48, and Humphrey Bogart, the dean of panda-huggers at 50, one year older than the century he lives in.

But this recognition of the amatory leadership of the time-mellowed male didn't become official—at least not in mind—until it was confirmed by Dorothy Dix. I have always thought that Dorothy knew more about love than either Freud or Dr. Kinsey suspected. They had to ask people questions about it. Dorothy just knows all about affairs of the heart—from some interior radar of her own.

Well, to her day, Mrs. Dix said yes, it was true that men over 40 are most attractive to women. She said girl bobby soxers mightn't agree, but they didn't know any more about men than they did about food.

Like Playing A Harp
And Dorothy gave reasons. She said the mature fellow knew more about life, had more to talk about—and understood women better than feckless youths. A bald head and a pot tummy didn't offset the intellectual charm that only years bring, in her opinion.

Dorothy summed it up: "It is because the man of 40 knows women and can play upon them as upon a harp of a thousand strings that makes him more dangerous to women at that age than any other."

Oh, boy! Oh boy! Oh boy! Ladies, I'm giving you fair warning. I'm 38, getting bald, and I'm 15 pounds overweight. But in

School Debaters Prepare Cases

Practice Tournament Scheduled Nov. 19

Escanaba high school debaters have divided into affirmative and negative teams and are now preparing for a practice tournament at Iron Mountain on Nov. 19.

Another practice tournament is scheduled for Dec. 10 in Escanaba, after which debaters will prepare for the final tournament at Marquette in January.

Miss Irene Schiefelbein is coaching the squad which this year includes seven with past experience. Students of high schools this year are debating whether or not the president of the United States should be elected by a direct vote of the people.

Mary Sue Fleming, Mary Shepeck and Dora Rose, juniors now entering their second year of debate work, and Beverly Feldstein, senior, will handle the affirmative, along with Nancy Duchaine and Lynn Bergman, sophomores, and Charles Wickman, junior. The latter three are new members on the squad.

Negative approaches will be handled by Bob Myrsten and Jane Holderman seniors in their third year of debating. Martha Moran, a junior working for the second year in debate, also will debate the negative. Newcomers to the negative squad this year are Ted Rouman, Denis Harbath and Pat Heminger, sophomores.

"The debate squad this year is a promising group, and I am especially enthusiastic about the calibre of sophomores entering debate," Miss Schiefelbein states. "The question," she adds, is a very timely one, and we as voters should be interested, and aware that by the time of the 1952 election, direct vote may have replaced the outmoded electoral college."

Following the practice tournament at Iron Mountain next Saturday, the high school debate squad will prepare cases for service clubs in the community.

Crash Landing Plane Misses Funeral Group

New Cumberland, Pa., (AP)—A small airplane barely missed a funeral procession in making a crash landing near the New Cumberland airport.

The pilot, Robert Herrick of Boston, and his mechanic, Robert Kesler of York, Pa., escaped with cuts and bruises.

Airport officials said the plane developed engine trouble shortly after takeoff and turned back to the field.

The two-seater plane skimmed low over a funeral procession in the Mt. Olivet cemetery and crash landed in a nearby field.

two more years I'll be a swash-buckling, fascinating devil looking for his fair share of harp playing. There's a good gray time a 'coming for us all, boys—if our arteries last.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company Found Guilty of Using Un-American Weapons Appeals for the sympathy and support of the American Public

A & P WAS FOUND GUILTY BY A FEDERAL COURT, AND THIS VERDICT WAS SUSTAINED BY A U. S. COURT OF APPEALS, OF THESE ALLEGATIONS—

- 1 A & P expansion has resulted, in a substantial part from the use of such vicious un-American weapons as boycotts, blacklisting, price wars, and threats. A & P was found guilty.
- 2 Numerous local business men were forced out of business by these tactics by which a ruthless corporation robbed Peter to pay Paul. A & P was found guilty.
- 3 A & P, it was alleged, in order to drive out competition, operated as high as 30 per cent of their stores at a loss, and requiring customers of their other stores to pay for these losses through higher prices. A & P was found guilty.
- 4 A & P, it was alleged, forced farmers and food packers to sell to them at lower prices than competitors. A & P was found guilty.

IS THIS THE KIND OF AN AMERICA YOU WANT?

Do you want to have a large share of the food for your family table controlled by a corporation which was found guilty . . . guilty by a Federal court . . . and guilty by a Federal court of appeals . . . in a criminal action that took your government almost five years to bring to justice. Don't you want the people you buy from to obey the laws?

DO YOU BELIEVE IN FAIR PLAY AND JUSTICE?

Today, the Great A & P with their great resources and wealth, are spending thousands of dollars to advertise to you, as American citizens, because the U.S. Government is suing them on a civil action that will stop them from continuing to follow practices for which they were convicted on criminal charges.

IS THE A & P BIGGER THAN THE GOVERNMENT?

You, as an individual, know that interpretation of the laws of your land can only be accomplished in duly qualified and authorized courts . . . that justice is for all . . . not for the one who can afford to unleash a huge propaganda program. Perhaps in a Federal Court the A & P can win this pending civil suit. But with a prior criminal conviction on the same grounds against them, A & P can hardly feel it is discriminated against when the U.S. Government files a civil suit to stop future violations. You would expect your government to pursue this logical step.

LET THE FACTS COME OUT

Why is A & P attempting to tell the American public that the government is trying to force it to close up? You, as consumers, workers, and farmers, deserve to know the facts about a company that says its purpose is to serve you, yet is found guilty of violating the laws of the land which all of you must abide by. What does the Great A & P fear from court testimony? Are the points raised by Congressman Wright Patman on Page 13998 of the October 13, 1949 issue of the Congressional Record true?

LET'S DISPEL PROPAGANDA!

A & P claims they are persecuted because they sell for less. Yet, they were found guilty of charging more in some stores, to make up the loss in vicious price war campaigns in other stores. A & P was found guilty of forcing farmers to take less money for their produce. A & P was found guilty of forcing up the price other grocers pay for products as packers had to make up the difference on the losses incurred in selling to A & P.

THE LAW IS MADE FOR ALL

If you ruthlessly drive your automobile in such a manner that you injure other people, and other people's property, you might well be found guilty of reckless driving. And if you're found guilty on criminal charges, you can't protest if you are made a defendant in a civil action. You'll get no public sympathy, and no one will say, least of all you, that you're being persecuted. Does the Great A & P think it is greater than the individual American?

AMERICANS HAVE ALWAYS FOUGHT OPPRESSION!

Three times in fifty years, Americans have laid down their lives and spent their resources to stop the oppressor from oppressing the little fellow. In 1898, 1917, and 1941, Americans have fought and died to try and insure a fair deal for everybody. And often, the oppressors had big, powerful and loud propaganda organizations, but Americans have never been swayed by propaganda.

ECONOMIC OPPRESSION CAUSES MISERY, TOO

Men, their wives and children, who die from starvation brought about by lack of fair opportunity are every bit as dead as those who die before the firing wall, or in the torture chamber. If some one is building economic oppression in America, you want to see it stopped, in the fair, impartial manner of American justice.

DON'T HAMSTRING YOUR CHAMPIONS!

As an American, you have confidence in the American government. You know that the U.S. Department of Justice has only one purpose, and one only, to enforce the laws which your elected representatives have passed to protect you and your children. These laws are the rules of the game. A & P knows the rules, yet violated them, and was found guilty. Now the United States Department of Justice, through civil action in impartial Federal courts is trying to make sure that the rules of the game will be obeyed.

THINK THIS OVER—THEN ACT!

Whom do you prefer to have look after your present and future welfare? The United States Government, or the Great A. & P. Company, already found guilty and convicted of criminal actions against the people of the United States . . . and against you as a citizen of America. Naturally, you have faith in your government, and what it is trying to do for you. Why not re-affirm that faith . . . why not give your government a vote of confidence . . . especially at a time like this when a huge corporation, already found guilty, is trying through the vast expenditures of money, to destroy public confidence in the United States Government. Why not mail in this coupon today.

FOR BETTER LIVING

Spacious Dwelling Has Doll-House Lines

Although it looks as tiny as a doll house, and as charming, with its trellised entrance, window boxes and white picket fence, "The Woburn," today's house design from the Home of the Week Plan Service actually contains more room than most of the dwellings being built today.

Within its walls, the architect has managed to provide seven good rooms, plus a bathroom, a lavette and 10 closets. And there is an attached one-car garage.

The house has been so laid out that it can be developed in easy stages. The main portion of the dwelling would be built first but the upper floor would be left unfinished until some later date. The garage could also be left as a future addition.

Requires 60-foot Frontage

The main house measures 27x32 feet and contains 19,200 cubic feet of space. The garage wing has a cubic content of 3300 feet. If the garage is to be built as shown in the accompanying picture, a lot with at least 60 feet frontage will be needed.

In view of today's high cost of heating, the plan includes a good economy feature. The architect suggests installing a heat-circulating unit in the living room fireplace. By closing off the bedrooms during the day, this device would substitute for the furnace in keeping the house comfortable except in severe winter weather. The second floor is closed off by a mirrored door at the foot of the stairs, opposite the front entrance. Complete insulation of the house is recommended.

Frills Eliminated

Unnecessary frills have been eliminated and costs kept down through use of stock items in construction.

The first door opens into a small T-shaped hall with a coat closet at the left. A door directly ahead closes off the stairs to the second floor; another, at the right, shuts off the bedroom or den. An arch, at the left of the hall, opens into the living room.

The living room measures 16x13 feet. It is lighted by three windows on two exposures. The fireplace is centered in the inside wall with a storage closet at the left of it. A door in the other inside wall gives access to a 10x7½-foot dining room. A linen closet is located in this room. Both the front bedroom (12x12 feet) and the rear bedroom (12x9 feet) contain spacious clothes closets.

Basement Is Roomy

The bathroom, is across the hall from the cellar stairway. The basement is planned to put the furnace for the house's heating system beneath the living room laundry equipment under the kitchen, with a bulk-headed exit from the cellar to the back yard. This will leave cellar space under the first-floor bedrooms for recreation or storage.

The kitchen has a U-shaped layout aligning stove, working counter, sink and refrigerator. A built-in ironing board and a broom closet are placed in the long inside wall of this 10x8½-foot room. The service entry door is by the broom closet, opening on the passage which connects house and garage.

On the second floor is space for two bedrooms, connected by a short hall at the head of the stairs, with a lavette opposite the stair landing. A linen closet opens from this hall.

Both upstairs bedrooms have drawers for storage built under the eaves. The smaller bedroom also has a door opening on this space, convenient storage of trunk and suitcases. The larger bedroom has two clothes closets; the smaller room, one. Both bedrooms have windows on two sides.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week", or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor.

Useful Mirrors Give Appearance Of Space

Mirrors make attractive additions to any number of rooms in the house. In the bathroom a mirror is handy for shaving and for toilet purposes. The powder room mirror not only gives accurate reflections of the individual looking into the mirror but adds an appearance of spaciousness to what is usually a small room. It is nice also to have at least one full-length mirror in each bedroom. Full-length mirrors in the children's rooms will help to accustom them to neatness of person and of the room itself.

Invisible Balances

Home owners who dislike visible sash-balance mechanism in their windows may install spring sash balances which are invisible in that the entire unit fits into a grooved side stile and moves with the sash.

The only exposed part of the spring-balance device is approximately one inch of the brass bearing arm when the window is closed. Mechanism of balance is an oil-tempered spring complete-

Exchange Vows

St. George's church at Bark River, autumn flowers arranged in its altars, was the setting for the wedding this morning of Marilyn Fenlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Fenlon, Bark River Route One, and Stephen Brayak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Brayak.

The vows were spoken before Father Neil M. Stehlin at a 9 o'clock nuptial high mass. St. George's choir sang the music of the wedding mass and Mrs. Edwin Bergman was organist.

The bride wore a caramel suit with navy blue and yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow and bronze baby mums. Her sister, Patricia, who was her only attendant, wore a navy blue suit with navy and winter white accessories and light pink baby mums formed her corsage.

Nicholas Brayak served as best man for his brother. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fenlon selected a wine dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations and baby mums. Mrs. Brayak wore a green dress with black accessories and a similar corsage.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party was served at Club 41, Escanaba Route One and a wedding dinner at 12:30 for 35 guests at the home of the bride's parents. The reception for 100 guests from 3 to 5 is being followed by a wedding dance at the Croatian hall.

Home In Bark River

Tells Radio Tie With Tourists

WDBC Manager Talk At DCTC Thursday

The manner in which radio ties in with the tourist industry was related by George Lindenthal, manager of Radio Station WDBC, in an informal talk before the Delta County Tourist council Thursday evening at the city hall.

"Deer Hunters Roundup", a simple, but effective program put on last fall for the first time and being repeated this season, is an example. Data on hunting, the days kill, weather forecasts and hunting prospects of following day are broadcast by participating stations for their area.

Lately there has been an interesting tourist promotional program in which efforts are made to determine what each tourist is interested in and then every effort is made to satisfy the tourist's wants, the speaker said.

Roadside broadcasts are another radio tourist promotion. In this, as is indicated, the tourists are interviewed at roadside. In many instances a wire tape is made and the actual broadcast is made later.

Mr. Lindenthal told of the mobile unit which WDBC now has acquired for the purpose of promoting outdoor activities. He said that on some day or evening of special activity at the Gladstone Sports park the unit may be sent there for a broadcast. It probably will be used to describe smelt jamborees directly from the streams.

The speaker touched briefly on the expansion program of WDBC and in closing suggested the Tourist Council could help itself immeasurably by inviting metropolitan newspapermen and radio men to make a junket here.

Council dues were raised from 50c to $3.00 per year by a vote of the members.

Following a report on the activities of the fishing committee, it was decided to write letters to commercial fishermen advising them that the tourist council would support legislation calling for limiting trap nets to 50 feet, would work for the locating of a federal hatchery in this county, would deny the current petition being circulated to close the Bays de Noquet to commercial fishing of walleyes provided the commercial fishermen would discourage outside commercial fishermen coming into this area, if they would take less walleyes and if they would agree to certain designations, net-free trolling areas for sport fishermen.

The council proposed that the number of trap nets be limited to three owned by one person or serviced by one boat and that the minimum size of commercial walleyes be fixed at three pounds.

A resolution was adopted approving the paving of a stretch of Highway M-35 in Ford River township and a copy of the resolution is being sent to the state highway commissioner.

WED RECENTLY—Mrs. Morris Bruntjens, who was married at All Saints church October 29, is the former Delores Dahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dahn of Chabois. The couple will live in Escanaba (Ridings Photo)

Speeding Ticket—Glenn Johnson of Marinette was ticketed by Michigan State Police for speeding with a truck. Johnson is said to have been going at a rate of 60 miles per hour with a load of over 5,000 pounds when the maximum for such load is 45 miles per hour.

Special Music—There will be special music at services in the First Baptist church Sunday. At morning worship there will be songs by Mrs. Vernon Peterson and Mrs. Bertil Friberg. In the evening there will be special music by the choir and a vocal duet by Miss Leone Larson and Gordon Haga.

Boy Scouts—Boy Scouts of the First Lutheran church meet Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the church.

Grant Students Hunting Permit

May Be Excused 1st Day Of Season

Gladstone high school students who are bonafide deer hunters and who have the approval of their parents may be excused from school on the opening day of season, it is learned at the office of Sup't Wallace Cameron.

However, it isn't just a "free day" for all the boys of the school. In order to be excused they must present their deer hunting license along with a note of permission from a parent or guardian to the superintendent and this must be done prior to the opening day.

When these conditions are complied with an excused absence is granted.

This is the second year that this privilege has been granted the boys.

Noted HereImpressive Parade
Afternoon Feature

Dull skies with just a threat of snow in the air, prevailed throughout Armistice day, but the weather failed to dampen the local observance of this national holiday.

Something of the old time spirit that characterized Armistice days of the past entered into the celebration with veterans of both wars participating in the effort as if determined that the memorable occasion which gave rise to its status as a legal holiday should not be forgotten.

Following the massed colors in the afternoon parade were more than one hundred veterans of the two wars. Also in the line of march were the Manistique High school band, the entire personnel of Co. D 107 Engineers, C. Battalion along with an impressive array of motorized equipment, Gold Star members and American Legion, VFW and DAV Auxiliary members. As Capt. E. J. Doyle, marshal of the parade had promised beforehand, the parade started on time.

A dinner served at the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp, followed by a dance at the armory made up the days activity.

Many places of business cooperated with the wishes of the sponsors of the celebration and closed while the parade was on.

City Council Wants
Something Done About
Wyman Nursery Property

Fully realizing that resumption of operations at the Wyman Nursery at the edge of the city would be a boon to the area and desiring to cooperate in every way possible in bringing it to pass, the city of Manistique will not interfere should the Federal Forestry department choose to deed the property over to the state conservation department. Members of the city council, however, are on the alert and have instructed G. S. Johnson, city attorney, to investigate and find out what recourse, if any, the city would have should it move to repossess the property in case it is not put to use.

Various members of the council have expressed themselves to the effect that the land which makes up the nursery is far too valuable to be permitted to lie idle. They contend that is unusually desirable for recreational purposes—being adjacent to In-take Park it would be ideal as a playground.

These same members state, however, that should the state take over the nursery and make

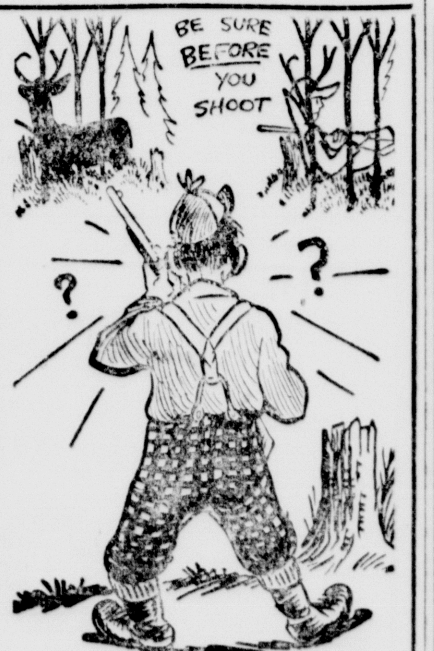

Local Strawberry
Bed Still Produces
A Limited Crop

The mildness of the November season has brought to light many things that border on the unusual, such as plum and apple blossoms, dandelions and evidence that some plants that stage an early comeback in the spring, were starting out this fall.

At the Harold McNamara residence, 426 Oak street, the garden turned out more than its usual quota of everbearing strawberries. The killing frost, of two weeks ago put an end to this—or apparently did so, but Mrs. McNamara, while looking over the strawberry bed Wednesday came upon a number of large, though still green berries.

Youthful Actors
To Present Play
Offering To Be A
Mystery Drama

The Manistique High School Dramatics club, the "Masquers", will present a "gripping mystery play" on Nov. 18, at 8:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The cast of the play with one exception is composed of actors who have attained membership in the National Thespian Society, a dramatic honor group for all high school students. The characters in the order of their appearance are: Miss Groze—Edith Kristofferson; Cavendish—Calvin Anderson; Mrs. Wragg—Gail Lundstrom; Jimmy North—Lorne Lustila; Beatrice Jasper—Joan Sheahan; Mrs. Arthur, her mother—Margie Viergever; Sir Charles Jasper—Bruce Plihta; Maurice Mullens—Dan Van Eyck.

A Woman—Joyce McNamara. Besides being a play of absorbing interest, it is blessed with that rare and precious quality known as originality. Never has there been a play quite like it—never have thrills been produced by such apparently simple means.

This author has been able to ensnare the imagination of his audience from the rise of the curtain and to hold it spellbound until the finish. That "spooky" feeling surcharges the atmosphere. Strange forces lurk in every corner, premonitions seep through the walls of the building. "A play of horrific apprehension fulfilled step by step before possessed spectators."—Boston Transcript.

Packers Tangle With Giants In Green Bay Sunday

Green Bay, Wis.—The New York Giants and Green Bay Packers will tangle Sunday afternoon at City stadium in a National Football league game. Kickoff time is 3 p. m. EST.

The contest will drop the curtain on the 1949 postgraduate football season in Green Bay and there should be thrills galore before the final whistle blows because both teams are ready to shoot the works offensively.

The New Yorkers have a star-studded lineup headed by Charlie Conerly, a forward punting wizard who just about can make a pigskin talk, Steve Owen, veteran coach of the Broadwayites, has built a lot of play around Conerly which have a touchdown hue.

Best Scoring Team

Buffalo Bills Hope To Check Cleveland '11'

Browns Haven't Lost A Home Game In 25 Months

New York, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Buffalo Bills of the All-American Football conference will attempt something tomorrow that hasn't been done in 25 months. That is, to whip the Cleveland Browns on their home lot in Cleveland.

Not since Oct. 12, 1947 have the Browns tested defeat at home, and then it was only a 13-10 decision to the Los Angeles Dons.

Hence, tomorrow the Bills will have a double incentive. Not only will George Ratterman & Co. attempt to end the defending champions' two-year skein, but they will be seeking to enhance their own playoff chances.

Buffalo currently is fifth in league standings, a half game behind the Chicago Rockets, who cling to the final playoff position. The Rockets will be at New York, tangling with the rough-tough Yankees. So, a Buffalo victory and a Rocket setback will vault the Bills into the coveted fourth—and payoff—slot.

In the other AAC contest, San Francisco will attempt to make it four in a row against the Los Angeles Dons. In four years, the Dons have yet to beat Frisco.

In the National league the Philadelphia Eagles can all but clinch their third straight Eastern Division title by whipping the Washington Redskins.

Pittsburgh has a tough assignment in facing the Los Angeles Rams, Western Division leaders. The Steelers must stop the great Bob Waterfield to keep their flag hopes alive.

The Giants will travel to Green Bay to tangle with the punchless Packers. Last Sunday, the New Yorkers were upset by their Polo grounds guests, the Bulldogs, and thus will be seeking to untrack themselves.

The Bulldogs, meanwhile, seem to have found themselves. They meet the Chicago Cards at the Polo grounds.

At Chicago, the Bears will play host to the Detroit Lions.

Buddy Bomar Team Begins Defense Of U. S. Bowling Title

Detroit, Nov. 12 (AP)—One of bowling's annual classics opened here today.

Chicago's Tavern Pales, headed by Buddy Bomar, began a 24-game series in defense of its national match game championship against Detroit E & B.

The teams faced a weekend schedule calling for three-game blocks this afternoon and tonight and the same tomorrow. The concluding 12 games will be rolled next weekend at Chicago.

Last year the Tavern Pales defeated E & B by 282 pins, overcoming a 592-pin lead which E & B had piled up at home.

E & B qualified for this year's shot at the Pales by leading a shot of 36 teams in an elimination tourney at Battle Creek, Mich., three weeks ago.

ALMA, ADRIAN TIE

Alma, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Alma and Adrian colleges fought a 13-13 tie in an MIAA football game last night. In the evenly-matched struggle, each team scored six points in the first period and seven in the third. Each had a long run that might have meant victory. But each time the runner was called back because of clipping.

ESCANABA VFW DEBUT
The Hermansville Silver Foxes will meet the Escanaba V. F. W. on the Community club court gymnasium in Hermansville, Saturday evening, Nov. 12, at 8 o'clock. This will be the first game of the season for both teams. The Foxes are entered in the fast NWYM league.

"It Seems To Me"

BY HIM WARD

Off the cuff: All you Ludington park archers and those of you who haven't flexed a bow since the Hiawathaland festival in 1947 will be interested in learning that the 1950 National Archery association tournament may be held on the beautiful Deertrack range southwest of Marquette. . . . And if you can get your hands on a current issue of "Archery," read the article by Harold Enstrom, of Crystal Falls, president of the U. P. Archery association. . . . He gives the U. P. quite a pat on the back and tells you all about plans for the 1950 meet.

We had a telephone call the other day about Stephenson. . . . Yes, Stephenson has been a Class B school for two years. . . . Remember when "little" embarked on its Class B career in the 1947-48 district basketball tournament in the Escanaba junior high school gym? . . . It cut quite a swathe for a newcomer. . . . With big George Peterson pouring them in, the Eagles went to the finals before bowing to Menominee. . . . How can they get 325 students to qualify for Class B? . . . They come from miles around. . . . Only major change in the listings this school year, according to the November supplement of the MHSAA bulletin, is the addition of Negaunee to the Class B ranks.

Don't look now but they have a red hot sophomore basketball team coming up at ol' EHS. . . . They're making the boys hump in varsity workouts these days in preparation for the season opener against St. Joseph's Tuesday night, Nov. 22.

GEORGE MIKAN

Respectable George Mikan and his Minneapolis Lakers are shooting for their third straight basketball title in the third different league this season. . . . That sounds halmy, but it isn't.

They won the National league in 1948 and the Basketball Association of America title last year and now they're competing in the National Basketball association. . . . Mikan was named by Harlem Globe Trotters here last week as the outstanding basketball player of the country.

Funnyman Hugh Fullerton, jr., AP scribe, says the Indiana state reformatory has a terrific ball club—won its last game by 101-0—but, as luck would have it, the team is due to be broken up soon.

Escanaba Eskymo gridders will be interested in seeing the Menominee all-range team, since they played against many of them. Here it is: Ends—Bob Schultz, Kingsford, and Ronald Sherwood, Stambaugh; tackles—Clayton Choquette, Stambaugh, and Walter Moraska, Norway; guards—James Devine, Norway, and Reynold Marks, Iron River; Center Don St. Arnaud, Iron Mountain, and Backs—Phil Crispiana, Iron Mountain; Francis Toti, Iron River; William Thomas, Kingsford, and Melvin Holme, Stambaugh. . . . Only surprise there is Phil Crispiana's selection over Eugene Taglienti and Bill Olivanti. . . . That rugged Norway pair of Ernie Pardon and Norman Polomis were on the second team with Olivanti.

Lyle Alrick, Sault Ste. Marie, is a basketball candidate at Western Michigan in Kalamazoo. . . . That's where Escanabans Ray Hirm and Jim Duchaine are hanging their hats and hitting the books these days. . . . Jack Simmons, first-year center with the Detroit Lions, tips the scales at 232 but he says he feels like a midjet when he plays opposite 290-pound Ed Neal of Green Bay and 283-pound Joe Coomer of the Cardinals.

We thought Coach Morley Fraser's acceptance speech as U. P. Coach of the Year a masterpiece, a model of modesty and diplomacy. Here are the five factors to which he attributed his success and we quote:

- 1—I inherited a wealth of good material.
- 2—The squad had an unbeatable spirit which made it easy for the coach.
- 3—I work under two excellent school officials in Superintendent C. L. Bystrom and Principal J. L. DeCook and had a town one hundred percent behind the team the whole year which kept a winning spirit constantly instilled in the players' minds.
- 4—The U. P. is blessed with excellent football officials and a fair, cooperative sportsmanlike group of high schools all working together to give the youth the many benefits that can be obtained from competitive athletics.
- 5—I have an understanding and sympathetic little wife who keeps me at an even temperament three and a half days before a game and three and a half days after a game when I'm all teeth and nails.

Fusari Top Contender For Robinson's Title

New York, Nov. 12 (AP)—Charlie Fusari has moved front and center as the logical contender for welter king Sugar Ray Robinson's title.

CAPTAIN - ELECT

— Richard Sundling, who wore number 23 and played a lot of leftguard for the Gladstone Braves in their successful 1949 football season, is captain-elect of the 1950 team. OSU, Bears Have Tough Tests Today

Illini Could Bump The Buckeyes

New York, Nov. 12 (AP)—Don't whisper a word, but there are other football games in the country today besides that Notre Dame-North Carolina affair. Some are top-flight contests that figure to be considerably closer than the Irish-Tarheel clash.

For example, the two teams that are expected to be the top Rose Bowl contenders—Ohio State and California—play foes that could knock them right out of the running.

The Buckeyes, currently favored for the Big Ten title, take on Illinois, a traditional and dangerous rival, while California tangles with the University of Oregon. If neither of the favorites loses, the Rose Bowl picture will be back where it was when the Yankees and Dodgers were playing the world series.

The first three teams in the Associated Press ratings, led by the mighty Irish, also go into action. Notre Dame, drawing a capacity crowd of 67,000 at the Yankee stadium, figures to roll over North Carolina as it pleases—especially since the Tarheels will be handicapped by Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice's injured ankle. He may play a few minutes.

Army, the No. 2 team, which has been virtually lost in the whoop and holler of Notre Dame for the past week, runs up against the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

Third-rated Oklahoma, which has become the darling of the various bowl committees, since Notre Dame and Army do not play post-season games, engages Missouri. It seems likely that Missouri will offer stouter opposition than the other Sooner foes.

Two other unbeaten teams go against outfits that could spring upsets. Boston university, which has not met defeat, tackles Maryland, co-leader of the Southern conference, while Wyoming, not only unbeaten, but the leading offensive team in the country, plays Baylor, a rough, tough aggregation.

The Ivy league card is featured by the Cornell-Dartmouth game. Cornell is another of the winding list of unbeaten eleven, and the result will go a long way toward deciding the loop title. Also on tap at Princeton is the 72nd edition of the Yale-Princeton rivalry.

HOME ON WHEELS—The increasing usefulness of the automobile as a key part of American life is demonstrated graphically in this on-the-road photograph showing the youngster reclining on one of the convertible twin beds of a 1949 Nash "Airflyte." Since the beds can be made up separately, the father still can drive the car while mother sits comfortably next to her son. To make up the bed, latches at the base of the front seat back are released, then the back of the seat is lowered to the front space has been swung out from under the rear seat cushion. All the trunk space remains available for luggage and special screens permit full ventilation. The twin beds are a full five feet wide.

Spartans Discover It's Still Raining At Oregon State

Portland, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP)—A former State of Michigan boy who is making good as a head coach in the Far West will be trying to upset his old boss when Michigan State and Oregon State renew their football rivalry here this afternoon.

The coach of the Oregon State Beavers is Laverne (Kip) Taylor, an Ann Arbor high school coach before he entered the college field. Taylor's last post before he took over out here was as end coach under MSC Boss Biggie Munn.

Taylor has a 5-3 won and lost record so far this season. He is expected to throw everything he has at the visiting Spartans when the whistle sounds for the kickoff at 2 p. m. Pacific time (5 p. m. EST).

Complicating the outcome of the game is the steady downpour that has been drenching downtown Multnomah stadium for the past two days.

The big, barn-like stadium, which seats up to 32,000, ordinarily is used for greyhound racing. It has a drainage system but the water has been collecting to make the field a quagmire.

Munn had his boys splash through a final workout late Friday. The ball was hard to handle and the receivers missed eight out of the first nine practice passes. Munn cut the workout down to a half an hour as his players were soaked after the first few minutes.

The prediction was for continuing rain today.

The report from Corvallis, Ore., was that Taylor has had his squad working out in the rain most of the week to make mudders out of them. Taylor was expected to do a lot of passing despite the rain to offset the superior MSC running attack.

Michigan State was still a heavy pre-game favorite. Gamblers were offering 20 points to Beaver backers and all of the local sports writers predicted a win for the visitors.

The continued dampness has aggravated a bad cold that has been bothering star left half Lynn Chandnois of Flint. Chandnois has been sneezing and coughing for the past two days but insists he is ready to go.

Northern Swamps Gogebic, 58-0; to Capture U. P. Title

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Upper Peninsula intercollegiate athletic conference football crown today rested firmly with Northern Michigan college, which trounced Gogebic J-C, 58-0, here Friday.

The Jaycees started the game off with a bang, running the kickoff 79 yards to Northern's 16. They lost the ball on downs on the one yard line but after that Northern Michigan dominated the play.

Both teams were undefeated in conference play entering the game. Northern Mich. 0 25 20 13—58 Gogebic J. C. 0 0 0 0—0

Commissioner Plugs For Standardization Of Fight Contracts

Detroit, Nov. 12 (AP)—Michigan Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens will recommend standardization of fight contracts at the National Boxing Association convention starting in Miami, Fla., tomorrow.

Stevens said today he also will urge establishment of the 90-second rest period between rounds and elimination of 30, 60 or 90-day clauses on rematches.

The longer rest period is now being tried out in Michigan. A one-minute rest is general practice.

The boxing commissioner said that each state now has its own form for contracts among fighters, promoters and managers. He will urge adoption of a single national contract form, he said.

75,000 See Wolverines Play Indiana

That Makes Season Attendance Mark

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Michigan was heavily favored to best Indiana's sophomore-studded football squad here today and move into direct contention for a third consecutive undisputed Big Ten title.

A win over the Hoosiers would leave only Ohio State between Michigan and that goal, never before reached in the 53-year-history of the western conference.

About 75,000 fans were expected to be on hand for the fight and establish an all-time collegiate attendance record. The crowd was expected to push Michigan's season attendance (away and home) beyond 678,000 and erase the former record of 652,879 set in 1946.

As for the game itself, it matched Michigan's experienced squad against Indiana's green club that has yet to win a league game.

Hoosier chances took a further blow this week with the injury of Johnny Davis, defensive left halfback. Coach Clyde Smith moved fullback Arnold Bowman into the vacated spot.

Michigan had its injuries, too. But they weren't expected to affect the outcome of the game.

Bob Holloway, defensive end, was out with a knee injury suffered in the Purdue game and Leo Koeski, star halfback, would see limited, if any, in deference to rib injuries of four weeks standing.

However, Coach Bonnie Oosterbaan has assigned Harry Allis, regular offensive end, to cover Holloway's position and has been doing all right for the past three weeks distributing Kiceski's duties between Bob Van Summer and Donald Peterson.

Each club had a major threat too. Michigan's Chuck Ortmann was pitted against Nick Sebek, pass-minded Hoosier quarterback.

Morency Scores 514; Opponents Score 0

Morency, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—The Morency high school football team ran up 514 points in its nine-game schedule this year while keeping its opposition scoreless.

Eight wins in the Lenawee County Athletic Association gave Morency the association championship.

The Class C team—regarded as the best in its class in Michigan—finished its season last night with a rousing 71 to 0 pasting of Hudson.

Reopen Docks Here Monday

Full Operation Is Expected Soon

Workmen will be called back to the C&NW ore docks starting Monday but "it will be about the middle of next week before we get into full swing again," Lee McMillan, dock agent, reported today.

Re opening of the docks following the shutdown since early October because of the steel and mine strike is attended with some uncertainty on the scheduling of boats to be loaded here.

The Str. Portland Cement is to arrive at 8 p. m. tonight to receive ore from the Bradley and Cornell open pit mine near Iron Mountain, which has been under non-union operation during the strike.

Only other vessel scheduled is the Str. Michigan, due to arrive about Nov. 17 to load about 9,200 tons of ore from the recently reopened Tobin mine in Iron county. McMillan emphasized, however, that other vessels are expected to come in before Nov. 17, and that by Monday the docks here will probably be notified as to the name of the vessel and its scheduled date of arrival. The movement of ore generally from Upper Lakes ports is expected within the coming week.

Upper Peninsula iron mines are in the majority expected to get into production next week following settlement of the strike that closed them Oct. 1.

Pensions Were Labor Victory

Warm States Will Get Retired Folk

By ROGER W. BABSON

New York City.—I am in New York checking up with the large corporations regarding the settlement between the steel companies and Mr. Murray. They all seem to be disappointed. They feel that this is a real victory for labor, although the steel companies are a little better off than if they had accepted the fact finding report as submitted by the President's board. They also are disappointed that President Truman and the labor leaders "detoured" the Taft-Hartley bill which really was designed for just such purposes. In the congressional campaign next year this settlement will be used as an argument that the Taft-Hartley Bill is unnecessary.

An Important Precedent

Although these corporation officials with whom I talked are disappointed, they admit that a precedent has been set which may force a great many other corporations to adopt a more or less similar pension system. They state that there are three reasons why the steel companies were handicapped in their negotiations. One reason is because so many of the top officers themselves have pensions. A second reason is because the public, although opposed, at the present time, to more wage raises, are sympathetic with the pension idea. A third factor in the situation is that the Ford Motor Company has accepted a noncontributory pension system.

As Henry Ford was the first to guarantee $5 a day, they feel that the Ford Company is again beating the gun. On the other hand, it should be remembered that all of the common stock of the Ford Motor Company is now in a charitable trust, and hence, these Ford pensions do not cost the Ford family anything! If all of the steel companies unite in a similar program, the cost could be passed on to the users of steel and may not cost the steel companies stockholders anything. This, of course, is an insane method of accounting, it is a good deal like a man loaning money to his wife and accepting a note for it and thinking it does not cost him anything!

Silver Linings

Whatever happens to stockholders of large corporations forced to grant liberal pension systems, this new program should be a great help to Florida, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and other states with an attractive winter climate. Certainly, these retired people will not stick around home, shoveling snow, when they can be healthier, happier and live cheaper in a southern climate. They will get into their little car and beat it for the South at least for the winter months.

Many of these retired men and wives, whose families have grown up and moved away, will permanently change their residence to Florida, California or one of these other states. In the case of Florida, these people can buy a house for about $5,000 which is exempt from all local taxes provided they make Florida their home. There also are other advantages in moving to one of the above states. As a result, this new pension may postpone a decline in real estate prices in these southern states which have already had more or less of a real estate boom.

For some months real estate sales have been slowing up in most Northern cities. This especially applies to the higher priced and larger houses. Unemployment is forcing families to double up which is throwing houses on the market. The great increase in divorces is also a definite factor in the real estate situation. If the new pension craze is to be a boon for Southern com-

Publicity Over Romance Still Amazes Mrs. Hadley, Who Faces "A Big Job"

By NEA Service

St. Louis.—(NEA)—"We have a divine party planned for tomorrow night, and the Vice President is going to be there."

That message from Mrs. Clark Clifford in Washington was the only intimation Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley had that she was about to meet the man she will marry on Nov. 18.

"We've often talked about what a coincidence it was," says Mrs. Hadley of her first meeting with the 70-year-old widower, Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

"It was the only weekend he happened to be in Washington all summer," recalls Mrs. Hadley, who is 38 and a widow. "He was so busy speaking at college commencements and crowning beauty queens at the time."

She admits the romance of the "Veep and the Widow" has the appeal of "any Cinderella story, which it really is," although at the Washington party she merely thought he was a charming, gallant gentleman who was "simply being nice to a guest of the Cliffords."

Mrs. Hadley still is amazed at the amount of publicity and the number of letters—some of them from people she hadn't seen since her grade school days—the romance inspired. "In the beginning, I was stunned," she says. "I never anticipated anything of the kind."

As a result of the hectic excitement that followed announcement of the engagement, Mrs. Hadley went to the hospital with a slight case of flu and stayed there to rest up and escape the constant phone calls from well-wishers and others who wanted everything from her photograph to permission to design her trousseau.

Her transition, after Nov. 18, from the life of a secretary and St. Louis apartment dweller to that of the nation's second lady and an official Washington hostess to nobles would tax any woman. "I expect it will be a big job," says Mrs. Hadley, whose background gives her a head start.

A good conversationalist in fluent French and Italian as well as in English, and a student of serious music, she also comes from a political family.

Her grandfather, William Weller Rucker, was a member of Congress from 1899 to 1921. He was a Democrat, but Mrs. Hadley switched to the Republican party—at least in 1940. That year she questioned her milkman about his political preferences, and he told her Roosevelt was his man. The next day he found an empty milk bottle with a note from Mrs. Hadley reading: "No Willie, no milk."

Her father, Roy W. Rucker, was a lawyer; her mother is a concert pianist and teacher who took Jane Hadley and her brother and sister to Europe while she studied. Her husband also was a lawyer who died in 1945, at the age of 42, leaving Mrs. Hadley with two daughters, Anne, now 17 and a freshman at Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans, and Jane, 14, a St. Louis high school student.

With her knowledge of languages and a quick secretarial course Mrs. Hadley became a secretary in the romance languages department of Washington University where she once studied. Later, she became secretary to her husband's successor at the Wabash Railroad, the position she's resigning to marry Barkley.

By the time Mrs. Hadley had returned home after last summer's meeting with Barkley, newspaper speculation had already begun. Her daughter, Anne, vacationing in California, wrote: "What in the world have you been up to now? I'm coming home so I can take care of you."

As the Veep came courting, crowds of friendly well-wishers watched Barkley and Mrs. Hadley eat hot dogs at a Cardinal baseball game, dine at various country clubs and dance on the Starlight Roof of Hotel Chase.

Crowds even gathered outside Mrs. Hadley's apartment house when the Veep dined there on Labor Day, and they noted how the Barkley baritone rang out on "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." A private birthday party for Mrs. Hadley became a matter of public interest, even when Mrs. Hadley's age and what the Veep gave her—a book, "Women Are Here To Stay."

Mrs. Hadley's chief interests always have been books and music. Her seven-room apartment is simply furnished and her wardrobe is becoming but simply tailored, although she likes to splurge on hats.

She's a civic minded, and did much volunteer work for the Symphony Society, League of Women Voters, and Red Cross. Barkley told friends at St. John's Methodist Church, in St. Louis, where they'll be married, that he "wouldn't be surprised if she joined the Ladies' Aid Society."

munities, it should be bearish on Northern communities where those people are now located as they will want to sell their present Northern homes.

Due to the fact that the cream is off of the real estate business in many sections, the cost of new building has declined somewhat. It is certainly true that you can build a better house for the same money now than was the case a year or two ago when contractors were so independent and unreliable. My present advice on new building is as follows: If you have been waiting for a home, the time has come when you might seriously consider building for your own occupancy. The time, however, has not yet come to build a house on business property to rent to someone else. There are much better investments today than houses or stores.

FAMILY AFFAIR: Vice President Barkley faces the camera with Mrs. Hadley and Jane, one of her two daughters.

Lots Of Michigan Democrats Don't Know About Unity

By JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, (AP)—"Unity may be the Democrats' marching song—but lots of them don't seem to know the words."

For a party with a strong candidate like Governor Williams, the Michigan Democrats appear to be having an awful lot of trouble getting braced for the 1950 campaign.

With all due respect to the party, Democrats wouldn't be Democrats, apparently, if they weren't ready for a scrap.

This is not the first time the Democrats have been willing to cut a brother's throat rather than see him victorious.

Witness the recent Detroit elections.

In the Detroit mayoralty contest we saw the old situation of one branch of the party fighting another.

Add that to the recent gathering of rebellious Democrats in Grand Rapids and you have a nice intraparty feud which would make trouble a year hence at election time.

So-called "regular" Democrats, by their talk and actions, are fed

Irish Order Amnesty In Holy Year Of 1950

Vatican City, Nov. 12 (AP)—Ireland's embassy to the Holy See announced today the Irish government has decreed an amnesty for the Holy year of 1950.

By its terms, all prisoners who have only one month of their sentence yet to serve on Jan. 1 will be pardoned in full. Other prisoners will have their sentences reduced up to a maximum of three months.

Ireland's amnesty follows similar action by Brazil and Malta.

Japanese "Grows" Own Snowflakes

Los Angeles (AP)—Dr. U. Nakaya, of Japan, "grows" artificial snowflakes. What's more, he's found a use for them—helping the weather man. A professor of meteorology at Hokkaido University, Dr. Nakaya said he was the first to create the delicate crystals. He made the first one 19 years ago, he said, by varying temperature, pressure, humidity and wind velocity in a specially built chamber.

He's been experimenting ever since. He believes that by comparing natural and artificial flakes he will soon be able to tell the temperature and humidity of the area in which natural flakes are formed. This would help weather men understand the formation of storm centers and the structure of storm clouds.

Dr. Nakaya is on a lecture tour of the United States and Canada. His sponsor is the International Committee of Snow and Ice Flakes.

BABY SURVIVES FALL

Detroit, Mich. (AP)—A 14-month-old explorer climbed out a window and fell three stories while his parents were eating breakfast. The baby, Frank Leach, suffered only a few minor cuts.

DIES BEFORE REUNION

Cogan Station, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—Judge Byron B. Harlan of the U. S. tax court and former Democratic congressman from Ohio died yesterday of a heart attack at the home of his son. He was 63. Judge Harlan collapsed and died shortly after he arrived from Boston to attend a weekend family reunion. He had been hearing cases in Boston.

NEEDS START

The man-or-wild bird cannot take off from water, or on level ground. It can get into the air only by leaping from cliffs or trees.

up with Hicks G. Griffiths, Williams' former law partner who was made Democratic state chairman against everyone's wishes by Williams.

Griffiths seemingly gave George Edwards the kiss of death in the Detroit mayor's race, breaking the old non-partisan tradition of Detroit city elections by openly handing him the Democratic party endorsement.

This might have been good politics except for a couple of factors. In the first place, there was strong doubt that Edwards was a loyal Democrat and, secondly, the anti-Griffiths Democrats were just waiting for a chance to clip him.

They piled joyously on Albert E. Cobo's bandwagon, thumbing their noses at Griffiths, and helped Cobo roll up his 106,000 majority over Edwards.

All this put Williams and the party itself in a highly embarrassing position. Williams, it appears, was astute enough to know from the first that Griffiths had made a blunder and loyal enough to refuse to repudiate him publicly.

In addition, Cobo's election has given Republicans a real morale lift. They feel that it was a victory for conservatism versus the left-wing, laborite faction—a trend which may produce victory for them in 1950. It has given them a good talking point to counteract the Democratic sweep in New York State.

The Grand Rapids rump gathering failed to explode, although Kent county Democrats yesterday let go a blast at Griffiths, demanding that he resign because of the Edwards incident.

Griffiths, who may be sure, will resign only if Williams tells him to. And the governor has shown no intention of throwing his friend to the wolves.

But the regular wing of the party thinks he would be wise to do so.

Some of the Grand Rapids contingent obviously are after Williams scalp in the primary, but one veteran party worker says "we've got nothing against Williams. We think he's doing a good job and we want to stick with him. But if he doesn't get rid of Griffiths there's no telling what may happen."

If these folks do rebel, they probably would have support from George Fitzgerald and Mrs. Minnie C. Schwinger, the Democratic National committeeman and committeewoman. Neither breaks into smiles when Griffiths lights up his big cigar.

The squabbling presents several interesting hints for the future. The rebels probably can find a candidate with which to oppose Williams, but at the moment there appears no one in the party of sufficient stature willing to make the race. It's hard to think now of who could do it.

Williams may count on his labor support to override any revolution among the old line Democrats. Here, however, he may be on weak ground. The laborite wing of the party has never shown the discipline necessary to get out the vote in off-year elections. They did not do so in the Detroit city election when one of their own boys was a candidate.

Parachutes Save 10 As 2 Die In Flaming Wreckage Of B-29

Indianapolis, Nov. 12. (AP)—Ten crewmen parachuted to safety as two others died in the flaming crash of an air force B-29 near here yesterday.

First reports placed the death list at three.

Names of the dead and survivors were withheld by the air force pending notification of next of kin. The bomber was on a training flight from Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, N. M.

The survivors, none injured seriously, were taken to Billings hospital and the base hospital at Benjamin Harrison Air Base and to the Veterans Administration hospital here.

The plane crashed on a farm west of Indianapolis. The wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

Lt. Robert D. Carlstrom of Minneapolis, pilot, said the extreme left of the four engines caught fire at 17,000 feet. He said he ordered the crew to jump, but there was some delay because the intercommunication system apparently was out of order.

The plane exploded in the air and again as it struck the ground. The blast was heard at Weir Cook municipal airport, 20 miles away.

Menagerie In Women's Dormitory Features Madison Homecoming

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12 (AP)—About 500 men students let sheep, white mice, quince-pigs, cats and dogs loose in a University of Wisconsin women's dormitory last night.

While co-eds and alumnae stood on chairs and squealed, the men paraded around the dormitory and flung bedclothes off the beds.

Campus cop Joe Hammersley pulled up in his squad car, rushed in and, with the help of other officers, herded the menagerie out of Elizabeth Waters hall.

When Hammersley got back to his car he found it with the tires flat and a well greased pig reclining on the seat.

It was, police said, a "normal" homecoming eve.

Is the Golden Rule Sufficient?

"Creeds and dogmas mean nothing to me. The Golden Rule is my religion." A common statement. A growing sentiment. A dangerous tendency which bodes ill for the human soul and for the good of our country.

With the Golden Rule no real Christian has any quarrel. It is Christ's own command to "love thy neighbor as thyself." But is that all that God commands? Is that all that Christ taught in His three years of missionary life?

No Bible student — no true Christian — will concede this, nor can he help but deplore a condition today which enables mere man with his vaunted freedom of conscience, to cast aside one by one God's eternal truths, finding himself at last with only the Golden Rule — which he too often follows.

It is anything Catholic, ask a Catholic!

Deer Slayers Head For Camp, Snow In Prospect

Hunters jammed the Straits today in their annual northward rush and locally the deer slayers prepared to move to camp over the weekend for the start of the 1949 deer hunting season Tuesday morning, Nov. 15.

Generally favorable conditions were reported, with the prospect of snow flurries over the weekend bringing satisfaction to those hunters who like tracking snow. Back roads were clear but not frozen. Recent rains will probably not improve them any and heavily-loaded cars and trailers will cut the rut deeper.

Most hunting camps were either spoken for or will be filled by local hunters. Many nimrods will spend the season under canvas. A few will be housed in trailers.

Hunter Is Injured

Despite the heavy traffic on the highways, only one minor accident was reported in this vicinity.

Henry Gregory, 62, of 728 Maple street, South Haven, is in St. Francis hospital for treatment of leg lacerations. He was injured at 10:45 p. m. last night when he was struck by a car while walking across US-2 near Ogontz river. His injuries are not serious.

No pre-season gun accidents have been reported to conservation headquarters or the state police in this area. Hunters have not yet had time to get into the woods and set up camp, and therefore there have been no reports of lost hunters.

The conservation department and state police again this year are offering hunters the opportunity to register before entering the woods. The hunter or the camp may be listed so that messages can be quickly relayed in emergencies.

Issue Safety Rules

Following the custom of past years, fire personnel of the conservation department will be held on for an additional two weeks to serve as officers during the hunting season. Otherwise no special preparations are made for game law enforcement.

Suggestions for hunting safety were repeated by the conservation department, with the rule "Never Point a Gun at Anyone" heading the list.

Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger, advises the department; never lean a gun against a tree or climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.

Don't enter a car with a loaded gun and be sure to unload the gun when approaching the camp or auto. It's a good idea to rack the gun a couple extra times to be sure it is unloaded, hunters were advised.

Never work in ahead of a drive or other hunters where you might be mistaken for game, hunters were told. Concluding the warnings was the admonition that it is small comfort to relatives of the deceased to have the hunter say, "I thought it was a deer."

Ohio Lifer Gets New Trial, Then Draws Sentence Of Death

Hillsboro, O., Nov. 12 (AP)—Cecil Yankey—facing death in the electric chair—probably pondered the quicks if fate today.

Yankey was charged with the slaying of 71-year-old Leroy Woodland, an old age pensioner, during a robbery March 20, 1947. He pleaded guilty at his first trial and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

After serving two and a half years in Ohio penitentiary, he challenged the validity of his sentence because it was handed down by a one-judge court, instead of a jury or a three-judge panel.

The courts upheld his counsel, Miss Cecil Shapiro, in her contention the sentence was illegal. However, they overruled her contention Yankey couldn't be made to face trial again on the same charge.

His second trial before a jury of eight men and four women in Highland court ended yesterday. The verdict: Guilty, without recommendation of mercy.

That makes the death penalty mandatory in Ohio.

New Voice Of America Prepared To Punch Holes In Iron Curtain

Salonika, Greece, Nov. 12.—American radio engineers are working round the clock here on a 50,000-watt Voice of America transmitter which is to start boring holes in the Iron Curtain by the end of the year.

The million-dollar radio installation will be the second major relay in Europe for trying to break through the broadcast jamming set up by Soviet stations. The other one is at Munich.

The engineers said the new radio weapon in the "cold war" will cover the Balkans and other parts of Europe easily.

RIFLE BULLET FATAL

Port Huron (AP)—Gerhardt G. Vogel, vice-president and general manager of the E. B. Mueller Co., died Friday of gunshot wounds police said were self-inflicted. His wife heard a shot and ran to the bedroom of their room where she found Vogel with a rifle in his hands. He died a short time later. Vogel, about 44, had been ill several months. He was in charge of chinery processing and food canning plants at Port Huron, Bad Axe, Bay City and Mt. Pleasant.

Strike In Steel Industry Ended

firms also signed up on the same formula.

That represented a departure from the past when U. S. Steel customarily acted as the industry's bellwether in contract matters. It was U. S. Steel which granted the union an 18½ cents an hour wage boost in 1946 to end a 26-day long strike. That settlement set the course for the entire industry. In 1947 and 1948 the big corporation also had a major voice in wage agreements.

Over the nation, the strikers lost an estimated $270,000,000 wages during the six week long strike. Added to that strike loss figure is the 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 tons of steel production which would have been produced if the workers had not struck. Nearly a half million workers in allied industries were furloughed as a result of the steel strike.

Some of the laid-off workers will be slow in returning to work. In the auto manufacturing industry, where 43,000 employees are idle, several weeks will be required to build up steel stockpiles.

Return of U. S. steel to steel-making will boost the operating rate to a near normal figure. The national rate was 84.6 per cent of theoretical capacity before the strike. It sank to from nine to 12 per cent during the walkout and rose to about 25 per cent just before U. S. Steel and the union made their peace. U. S. Steel accounts for about 33 per cent of all American steelmaking capacity.

FINE FOR SANTA CLAUS

Homestead, Pa., Nov. 12. (AP)—This typical steel-making community was a happy place today.

On every hand, end of the great steel strike of 1949 was the main topic of conversation.

That held good in the homes, on street corners, in bars, in the grocery stores—and inside the plant of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, subsidiary of the giant U. S. Steel corporation.

The plant itself was a beehive of activity as maintenance men hurried to get the mill in operation. Work started right after the word was flashed last night that big steel had agreed to the pension and insurance demands of the CIO United Steelworkers.

And, minutes after the agreement was reached, steelworkers and their wives embraced. Many families went to the business section to take part in the celebration. For the most part it was quiet—not many steelworkers had too much money to spend.

Kiddies, too, joined the celebration. Their dads told them not to worry about Santa Claus. They said Santa would be right on schedule. There are at least three paydays for most steelworkers before Christmas.

Ohio State Student Slain By Trigger-Mad Fraternity Brother

Columbus, O., Nov. 12. (AP)—An Ohio State university student was shot to death by a fraternity brother early today after a homecoming party at the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house.

The victim was Jack T. McKeown, 21, of Norwood, a senior and managing editor of the Ohio State Lantern, student daily. Norwood is a suburb of Cincinnati.

James D. Heer, 20, of Euclid, a first year veterinary student, was taken into custody at the Columbus sewage disposal plant, 5 miles from the fraternity house. Euclid is near Cleveland.

Detective Kenneth Anderson said Heer admitted the shooting. The officer quoted the student: "Whenever I get drunk, I get trigger-happy."

McKeown was shot once with a .45 caliber automatic pistol as he tried to disarm Heer on the fraternity house lawn at 2:30 a. m., fraternity men said.

Fraternity brothers said Heer "went berserk" after accompanying a young woman home from the party.
